FRENCH WIN PRIORITY FOR GLOBAL TONNAGE ON PARLEY SCHEDULE

Technical Point Gained Through Alphabetical Precedence Plan.

GENERAL AGREEMENT EXPECTED TO RESULT

'Sovereign Right' Clause Brings France, Italy Somewhat Closer.

BRITAIN ORDERS HALT ON WASHINGTON SHIPS

London, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—France today gained a technical victory on a point of procedure for the formal agenda of the five-power naval disarmament conference, after a meeting of the chief delegates at No. 10 Downing street.

What actually happened was that after nearly three hours of keen discussion the delegates endeavored to settle part of their disagreement by invoking the alphabet, and under its auspices France, by precedence over Italy, was granted the right to propose discussion of the French plan for limitation of naval armaments by total tonnage instead of by categories of ships.

This is expected to produce a compromise on the global tonnage proposals satisfactory to all the powers. Meanwhile Italy's desire to plunge into the question of maximum and minimum fleets for each country must wait.

New Formula Approved.

Despite the wide divergence of their views on their national naval requirements, France and Italy may be brought together by a formula circulated in conference circles today which in its ultimate application would eliminate the whole troublesome issue of parity from disarmament negotiations.

France earlier today indicated approval of the formula and tonight the Associated Press learned authoritatively that Italy was likely to accept the tentative draft which would serve as a preamble to a five-power naval agreement. The formula recognizes the sovereign right of each country to possess in principle the naval forces necessary for its defense." It adds that the nations participating in the conference pledge themselves to limit and reduce armaments to determined levels during the term of years that the treaty is effected.

"Watchful Waiting" for U. S.

Secretary of State Stimson admitted that today's meeting, which lasted far past the hour for luncheon, had proceeded more slowly than he desired.

For the Americans and the Japanese it was largely a day of watchful waiting, while the European delegates maneuvered in a maze of technicalities relating to Franco-Italian problems, including naval parity.

It remained for the British government to add a realistic disarmament touch, entirely apart from the conference itself, to the events of the day by announcing the cancellation of construction orders for two 10,000-ton cruisers, the Northumberland and the Surrey.

Suspension Made Absolute.

Suspension of construction on these ships was announced by Prime Minister MacDonald before he started on his American trip last autumn, and the admiralty's order of the day simply makes suspension absolute. Plans for the two cruisers had been perfected but work had not begun. They do not figure in the British estimates of the 50 cruisers necessary for her minimum fleet allowance.

Though not put forward as a definite gesture toward disarmament at this time, a British spokesman today said that the cancellation nevertheless indicated a healthy hope that the London conference would accomplish something. The same official spokesman tonight declared that despite the seemingly slow progress of the negotiations the conference is enjoying "a normal, healthy life."

Outside the conference rooms the Americans and the Japanese chiefly avoided themselves to denying various reports and rumors.

Tardieu Not Optimistic.

Despite the advantage France was supposed to have gained at the Big Five meeting this morning, M. Tardieu was none too optimistic of the progress the conference was making as he concluded the day's work. He estimated that the delegates might get down to actual disarmament problems within eight days and he viewed two months as the probable length of the negotiations. Already domestic duties are crowding him and he plans to return to Paris week-ends to carry out his work as premier.

$70,000,000 Program For Capital Outlined

Business Men Flayed by Merle Thorpe for "Blindness."

The outlining of an improvement program of $70,000,000 by the Federal and District Governments in the National Capital, and criticism of "the hard-boiled business man" by Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, for not opening his eyes to the beauty and historical lore offered in Washington, featured the business conference of the Washington Chamber of Commerce last night at the Hotel Mayflower.

A major part of the large sum to be expended in District improvements during the ensuing year was described in detail by speakers at the conference. This $70,000,000 includes the $14,000,000 to be spent by private concerns as revealed in a recent survey of the Washington Board of Trade.

Mr. Thorpe's address was such a decided departure from the usual business talk that it literally made the

2,000 WILL GATHER AT HOTEL PAGEANT

Last Instructions Ready Before General Drive Tomorrow.

ORGANIZATION AIMS LAUDED BY TUMULTY

General Chairman Certain of Ultimate Success of Campaign.

Final instructions to the "key" workers who will start today to collect their quota of $260,000 for the Community Chest from business organizations in the District were issued at a dinner of the group solicitation unit of the chest organization at the Mayflower Hotel last night.

More than 2,000 workers of the metropolitan unit are expected to be present at the hotel tonight, when a pageant will be staged as the last move in instruction of workers before the general drive for the Community Chest fund of $1,786,737.07 for 1930 starts tomorrow morning, when more than 4,500 workers will take the field.

Aim at 20 Per Cent Gain.

An increase of at least 20 per cent over 1929 collections is the minimum aim of the chest this year, it was pointed out last night by Frank Jelleff, chairman of the group solicitation unit, who presided at the dinner. He declared that the chest in Washington this year is better organized than ever before, and that the attendance of more than 1000 persons at the function last night was an omen of success.

Speaking on "The Spiritual Values of the Chest," Joseph Tumulty, former secretary of the late President Wilson, pointed out that the Community Chest offers "the one opportunity for every one, rich or poor, to get in on the ground floor in an investment in happiness, where profit is measured in spiritual peace rather than in unfeeling gold, and where there are no preferred stockholders nor preferred creditors."

Solicitors Are Instructed.

Detailed instructions to solicitors were given in an illustrated talk by Elwood Street, director of the Chest, who explained in detail each of the receipt and pledge cards with which workers are to be supplied, and outlined the various ways in which collections may be made and how to overcome objections of prospects.

John Poole, general campaign chairman, expressed confidence that the goal of the campaign would be reached, declaring that "the people

U. S. MEN SPIED ON HIS OFFICE, BORAH CHARGES

ESPIONAGE ALLEGED AFTER RUM ATTACKS

LOWMAN DEFENDS COL. J. F. T. HERBERT

Official Once in Charge of Baltimore District Is Efficient, He Asserts.

Vigorous demand by Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, for the transfer of a prohibition administrator once in charge of this district yesterday evoked the sensational pronouncement from Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, that Department of Justice agents apparently were subjecting his office to espionage.

Coincident with the action of Senator Wheeler in demanding removal of Col. J. F. C. Herbert from his present post as prohibition administrator for the Montana-Idaho district, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman strongly defended the one-time enforcement head of the Baltimore district, embracing Washington. He characterized Mr. Herbert as "capable and efficient."

In seeking removal of Mr. Herbert from his present post, Senator Wheeler served notice that unless this is done he will force the Department of Justice to make public the evidence it gathered against Mr. Herbert and John J. Quinn, his former aid, who last week was discharged from the service.

Borah Scores Agent.

Senator Borah, joining with Senator Wheeler on the Senate floor in denouncing the appointment of Mr Herbert, asserted that if the facts about the administrator reported to him were true "this man has no business in Montana or Idaho or anywhere else outside the penitentiary."

Senator Borah made the espionage charge a short time later in declaring that "evidently my office was being watched all through the holidays by the Department of Justice after I gave out some statements on prohibition enforcement."

The Idaho senator explained that a Department of Justice agent had called on him during the holidays and outlined the results of an investigation of Mr. Herbert and Mr. Quinn covering the period when the former was administrator of this district. On the day following this interview the agent was summarily transferred out of Washington. Senator Borah said he believed this action was taken to punish the agent for giving information to him.

Assistant Secretary Lowman said that the Prohibition Bureau has no

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The questionnaire era, disclosed by The Post Sunday, has spread to the United States courts with particular emphasis on prohibition, it was learned yesterday.

All United States deputy marshals of the District, working under Marshal Edgar C. Snyder, have within the last few days been required to fill out a questionnaire asking what was their occupation "after the enactment of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law," their occupation immediately preceding their present employment, who recommended them, and among other questions whether they saw service in the World War.

At the same time, Attorney General Mitchell made public the fact that Department of Justice agents were investigating all applicants for positions as Federal law enforcement officials with particular reference to whether or not they use intoxicating liquors and their attitude toward prohibition.

Drinkers Not Wanted.

The Attorney General made it quite clear that no aspirant for a post as United States attorney, assistant or marshal, who drinks or who does not believe in the eighteenth amendment, need apply hereafter.

Mr. Mitchell made public a mimeographed copy of a letter he had written to some unnamed person who had been visited by Department of Justice agents and had asked Mr. Mitchell for an explanation.

In his explanatory letter, dated January 20, Mr. Mitchell said that at this late day "with few exceptions liquor that is served is illegally manufactured or imported, and I do not think that either wets or drys have much respect for a man who participates as a public official in the prosecution of bootleggers and patronizes them for a personal supply of liquor."

Religious Test Denied.

Apparently Mr. Mitchell's inquisitor asked him if this edict was not tantamount to demanding a religious test from holders of public office, or else Mr. Mitchell anticipated criticism on this score, because he declared that he could see no "analogy between applying a religious test as a qualification for public office and the matter of making inquiries as to the personal habits and the attitude toward prohibition on the part of candidates for posts having directly to do with the enforcement of the national prohibition act."

Chief Deputy United States Marshal C. B. Callahan could not say whether the questionnaires which he and his associates were required to fill out are being distributed throughout the country.

Without admitting that they had been ordered prepared here by the Department of Justice, he said the department "approved" them.

"Who conceived the idea?" he was asked.

"Oh, the marshal and the department have been conferring on it for months," he responded.

Different Tack Followed.

The courthouse questionnaire follows a different tack entirely from that sent out by the White House

COMMONS RATIFIES WORLD COURT LAW

British House Votes 278 to 193 for Acceptance of Optional Clause.

U. S. STAND MENTIONED

London, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—British signature to the optional clause of the statutes of the permanent court for international justice at The Hague was ratified tonight in the House of Commons by a vote of 278 to 193.

An amendment offered by Sir Austen Chamberlain, former foreign secretary, which would have made the reservation that in carrying out any work for the League of Nations the British navy should be subject only to British maritime law, was rejected. Sir Austen said the Labor government itself, in 1924, had insisted on the necessity of this reservation and the situation had changed in no essential sense, he said:

"The fact that the United States has not signed and is not bound and has refused in connection with the covenants (of the League of Nations), and has repeated its refusal in connection with the pact (the Kellogg-Briand pact for renunciation of war), to come into any obligation as to its conduct toward a state which breaks either covenant or pact, materially alters the position of clause XVI.

"It makes clause XVI, even if all those who are bound by it, lived up to the expectation of the foreign secretary, much less effective than it would have been if the United States and Russia had also been included in it."

Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, in moving ratification, declared the situation now in fact is on a totally different basis from that in 1924, owing to the pact of Paris, which outlawed war.

Sir Austen had said that the British navy was powerful in a just cause and was necessary for attainment of peace. Great Britain was a maritime nation which would not abuse that power but which needed it for its own protection and the safety of the world.

"I say the exercise of these maritime rights in war is not a fit sub-

SOVIET CHARGES U. S. INFLUENCED MEXICO

Legation at Moscow Taken Away at Instigation of Washington, Claim.

OUTBURST IN URUGUAY

Moscow, Jan. 27 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The United States dictated Mexico's recent severance of relations with the Soviet Union, it was charged here today by Soviet officials as Fernando Natti, Mexican charge d'affaires, and two other members of the Mexican Legation prepared to leave.

"We have not the slightest doubt that the Mexican act was dictated by the United States State Department," a Soviet official said today following the formal receipt last night of Mexico's note.

The United States, it was argued by officials here, could not tolerate the fact that Mexico should be the only North American country that recognized the Soviet, and desired the rupture to show that it dominates the American continent.

Montevideo, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—The Mexican legation today was stoned by a small group of demonstrators. They broke the glass of the front door and escaped before the police arrived.

Because of recent demonstrations in front of Mexican embassies in Buenos Aires, Rio Janeiro and Washington, one officer had been stationed in front of the legation here for the last few days.

Today he was surprised by three men, who seized his arms and threw him to the ground. When he succeeded in freeing himself, he fired into the air and the attackers dispersed. He said that only 10 or 12 men took part in the demonstration.

The foreign office sent apologies to the Mexican Minister immediately after it learned of the incident.

The Mexican government last week ordered the entire staff of its legation to withdraw from Moscow in protest against the demonstrations by alleged Communists, which, it said, had been with the knowledge of the Soviet government if they had not been provoked by it.

Several alleged Communists have recently been deported from Mexico after police raids and it was stated that the demonstrations against the Mexican government buildings resulted from this.

Widow of Millionaire Named Death Plotter

Chicago Woman Mysteriously Engineered Passing of Husband, First Wife and Two Sons, Suit to Block Will Alleges.

Chicago, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Mrs. May Dunn Murphy is accused of the deaths of four persons, including her husband, John B. Murphy, sr., former vice president of the Kohler Co.; his first wife and two sons, in a suit to set aside the former prominent executive's $1,000,000 will.

The suit, filed in Superior Court by Mrs. Sarah Carroll, of Milwaukee, Wis., sister of Murphy, is based on the declaration that the second Mrs. Murphy "mysteriously caused" the deaths, having previously "influenced" two persons to witness a will leaving the entire $1,000,000 estate to herself.

Mr. Murphy had been connected with the Kohler Co., headed by Gov. Walter J. Kohler, of Wisconsin, for twenty years. His death occurred November 12, 1928, that of his sons, John, jr., and Hallett Murphy having occurred previously. John Murphy, sr., was 71 when he died. His second wife was named executrix of his estate.

Mrs. Carroll charges Mrs. Murphy with "negotiating" the affair, and declares A. M. Martin and Mary Lillian Kent, the witnesses, were her "tools." The will, Mrs. Carroll states, was dictated by Mrs. Murphy, and was not signed by her husband of his own accord. He was "incompetent" at the time of his death, the declaration says.

Mrs. Carroll further charges the Chicago woman with having suppressed information concerning the death of the first Mrs. Murphy, and with having conducted the funeral privately. The deaths of all four members of the Murphy family are attributed by Murphy's sister to "wrong and skillful acts of Mrs. May W. Dunn Murphy."

According to the records of the department of health, the former Kohler Co. official died from cancer of the mouth and neck, and the information for the death certificate was furnished by "M. H. Murphy," of Avoca, Wis., which also was Murphy's birthplace.

The records show that Hallett Murphy died at Niles, Mich., on January 11, 1927, of alcoholism, at the age of 38. The body was brought to Chicago for burial and the death certificate was issued here.

The death certificate for Mrs. Rose Murphy, the first wife, indicated that she had died on June 3, 1923, following an operation two days earlier. The operation had been performed for appendicitis with alcoholism and other diseases listed as contributing causes for her fatal illness. The records failed to indicate the death of John B. Murphy, jr., but Mrs. Carroll's bill states he was shot to death some time after his father remarried on May 9, 1923, "by a gun fired by a woman."

"His death was caused or aided by Mrs. May Murphy," the bill charges and declares that "again the funeral

RUM PLOT CHARGES LODGED AGAINST 179

U. S. Courts in Three Cities Start Action on Local Law Officers.

ONE STAR WITNESS DIES

Charges of plots to violate the prohibition law, involving city and county officials, police chiefs and subordinates and others to the number of 179 found their way into the Federal courts yesterday. At Oklahoma City, Okla., the trial of 102 defendants was delayed. At Galveston, Tex., 70, and at Jacksonville, Fla., 7 were indicted.

Oklahoma City, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Postponement until tomorrow of the opening of the Pottawatomie County liquor conspiracy case, involving 102 defendants, today gave the Federal Government additional time in which to meet the exigency created by the death Saturday night of Marion Fuller, former chief of police at Earlsboro, who was regarded as the prosecutor's key witness.

Circumstances of Fuller's death were under scrutiny of Federal authorities as they replanned their case. Herbert K. Hyde, assistant district attorney, said the Government's case largely hinged on Fuller's testimony, which was to have been the first offered.

Fuller is said to have made a death-bed statement, which, it is reported, will be introduced in the trial.

The Government will attempt to prove that Randall Pitman, county attorney of Pottawatomie County; Frank Fox, a former sheriff; Clarence Burdette, former chief of police of Earlsboro; Homer Knappenberger, former Mayor of Earlsboro; Oscar Motley, former deputy sheriff, and the other defendants controlled and operated the alleged whisky, alcohol and beer manufacturing and dispensing ring during the last three years. The Federal authorities charge that the plan contemplated assessing $5 to $50 weekly against saloons, barbecue stands, rooming houses, hotels, filling stations and drug stores for official protection.

EIELSON SEARCHERS DIG IN SNOW AND ICE

Surface Around Wreckage of Plane Is Turned Up in Hunt for Bodies.

TERRIFIC IMPACT SEEN

Nome, Alaska, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Searchers today dug into tightly packed snow and ice around the wreckage of an airplane 90 miles southeast of North Cape, Siberia, in their quest for Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, American aviators missing since Nov. 9 last.

Pilots Joe Crosson and Harold Gillam, who Saturday located the wreckage, specified in their report that it was the demolished all-metal monoplane flown by Eielson and Borland.

Pilots Crosson and Gillam, who landed their planes on the snow to examine the wreckage, both had flown Eielson's plane and said they recognized it instantly. They also said the motor of the ship was of a well-known American make.

Four men, taken to the scene yesterday from the ice-locked trading ship Nanuk in planes piloted by Crosson and Gillam, explored the area around the wreckage in the belief that Eielson and Borland were flung out to instant death when their ship crashed in a blind snowstorm November 9 or were under wreckage of gasoline cases near the cabin.

Two dog teams, driven by natives were on their way to the wreck from North Cape.

Meanwhile, the conviction was growing here that a faulty altimeter, upon which Eielson was forced to rely when the snowstorm wiped out all visibility, was in part to blame for the crash.

Pilot Joe Crosson reported upon his return from the wreckage yesterday that the altimeter registered 1,000 feet. Inasmuch as the plane crashed on tundra almost at sea level, the instrument's error may have misled the pilot.

Proof that the plane was traveling at a high rate of speed was found by Crosson in the fact that the throttle of the ship was wide open. The manner in which the metal propeller was wrapped around the motor

Assistant Prosecutor Suspended for Alleged Connection With Gang.

Chicago, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Harry J. Busch, assistant State's attorney, was placed under temporary suspension today after an investigation was begun of his activities in connection with the round-up by police in a series of raids of 22 persons suspected as members of a jewel-theft gang responsible for thefts totaling $100,000. The action was taken by State's Attorney John A. Swanson.

The reported use of Busch's name in telephone conversations between the suspected robbers over wires tapped by the police led State's Attorney John A. Swanson to undertake the inquiry.

Busch, however, denied any connection with the gang, and charged that his name was drawn into the inquiry through politics. He was re-with instructions that it be returned to Walter H. Newton, secretary in charge of the White House political department.

The only political suggestion in the marshal's questionnaire is that asking who was responsible for their appointment.

The White House continued to minimize the importance of its questionnaire, insisting that it was only the building up a routine file of appointments for which the President was responsible.

It is definitely known that the file contemplated by the recent questionnaires was far more extensive than any index kept at the White House since the administration of President Roosevelt, and regardless of the White House intent the accompanying memorandum on one particular package of more than 300 questionnaires sent to one department within the last week made no distinction between civil service and noncivil service employes. Fully 90 per cent of the employes in this department are under civil service.

Letter Is Set Forth.

The marshals' questionnaire comes more in line with Mr. Mitchell's letter to an unnamed correspondent. It was addressed:

"My dear ——— ———"

"I have your letter of January 15 calling for attention to the fact that a special agent of this department has been making inquiries from you about candidates for the post of United States marshal in———, and that in so doing he made inquiries as to whether a candidate was in the habit of using liquor and as to his views about the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. * * * The inquiries made by our agents about the habits of candidates as to the use of liquor and their views on prohibition are made at my direction. * * * United States attorneys, assistant United States attorneys and United States marshals have directly to do with the enforcement of the national prohibition act and the prosecution of cases under it. So far as the personal use of liquor is concerned, I do not believe that any of the men in these posts should drink under any circumstances. * * * If a United States marshal or other official who has to do with the national prohibition act is observed to have a supply of liquor and use it, it is generally assumed that it is obtained from illicit sources." Mr. Mitchell continued that he did not think such a man commanded respect from either wets or drys.

Efficient Men Desired.

"With respect to the views of a candidate on prohibition," he said "that is also an important matter bearing on the probable efficiency of the candidate in the prosecution of prohibition cases. No head of any administrative organization would think it wise to assign to a particular task a man who does not believe in what is being done, has no heart in it, and whose activities are constantly hampered by a strong distaste for and disapproval of the work he has to do.

"We do not want fanatics or zealots engaged in prosecuting these cases," he said, "but as a mere administrative matter it is quite obvious to me that efficient, thorough and diligent work can not be expected of those who patronize illicit traffic in liquors and have definite and decided opposition to the whole principle of prohibition and make it known.

The House expenditures committee, in the meantime, closed its hearings on the bill to transfer prohibition enforcement to the Department of Justice and Chairman Williamson announced that henceforth nothing but executive sessions will be held to draft the bill.

Cooperation Is Promised.

In reply to questions Mr. Mitchell said he thought the Williamson bill would give his department adequate authority to investigate the diversion of industrial alcohol for illegal purposes without transferring the permit system from the Treasury Department. He promised close cooperation between the Treasury Department and the Department of Justice in this regard.

Chairman Deming of the Civil Service Commission appeared before the committee and called its attention to the fact that as the bill is drawn at present it would be possible for the Attorney General to appoint not only attorneys and their assistants, but prohibition agents without regard to civil service. Mr. Mitchell told the committee that he did not want the attorneys subject to civil service.

SHERIFF, DEPUTIES HELD

plotting traffic in liquor, gambling and prostitution in Richmond, Fort Bend County, was charged in an indictment returned by a Federal grand jury today against Sheriff H. Wyatt Collins and 69 other residents of Richmond.

The bill which alleged conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, went into particulars of the alleged organization declaring it extended beyond the violation of prohibition laws.

It charged the sheriff and his deputies permitted manufacture and sale of intoxicants, for payments the size of which depended upon the size of the distillery. Concessions were let for all of Fort Bend County except Richmond, the bill charged, Richmond being divided among others who maintained houses "devoted to liquor, gambling and prostitution."

Weekly payments were to be collected by deputies of the sheriff's department, the sheriff in return agreeing to station men in various houses for protection of customers, the indictment alleged.

Police Chief Indicted.

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Violation of the national prohibition law was charged in three indictments made public here today involving three city officials of New Smyrna, a former police chief, two policemen and a drug store operator.

The defendants are:

John B. White, alias James B. White, chief of police. James H. Johnson, former chief of police, and now county superintendent of bridges for Volusia County. J. G. Stevens and A. D. Fussell, policemen. E. M. Hastings, jailer and fireman; H. C. Henshaw, fire chief; M. L. Brown, drug store operator.

Huge Operations Alleged.

One of the indictments charged Stevens, White, Fussell, Hastings and Henshaw with conspiracy to sell, transport, deliver, furnish and possess liquor continuously from June 30, 1929, to July 15, inclusive. Another indictment charges White, Brown and Johnson with selling huge quantities of liquor while the third charges White alone with sale of whisky, gin and wine.

Police Chief White and Jailer Hastings were alleged to have concealed 146 sacks of liquor, containing approximately 876 quarts of whisky, in the New Smyrna Jail. It also was charged that a week later Police Chief White, Fire Chief Henshaw, Jailer Hastings and the two policemen, Stevens and Fussell, removed 282 quarts of liquor from the jail, loaded it in two automobiles and that Stevens and Fussell transported it to a point near Fifteenth street, Coronado Beach.

Another of the indictments charged Police Chief White with selling 282 quarts of whisky, wine and gin, while another alleged that White, Brown and Johnson sold 9 gallons of rum and 144 quarts of whisky.

President Hoover, who is an enthusiastic angler, yesterday informed the Virginia Legislature that the President of the United States should rank no better than the most humbly stationed follower of Izaak Walton in the "sport of kings"—fishing.

The Virginia Legislature recently signified its purpose of passing special legislation to enable Mr. Hoover to fish for trout in the Rapidan River, which flows through his summer camp in the Virginia hills, all through the year.

In declining the offer, the President declared that he had no intention of fishing except when others could fish. Mr. Hoover added that he does not believe that any stream should be fished out of season.

Smithsonian Institution yesterday received notification of the probate of the will of a Boston doctor which establishes a $100,000 trust fund with the institution. The will specifies that the bequest be used to establish the theory of the decedent, Dr. William H. Rollins, that the light medium is dragged by the earth, a greater magnet, causing light to move in curved lines contrary to the accepted theory.

Dr. Rollins, carried on experiments regarding the effect of magnetism on light. His will asks that his own experiments be repeated and amplified. It further asks that other experiments be conducted regarding the fundamental matter of the universe.

Several beneficiaries will have the use of the income during their lives, after which it will revert to the institution.

Allen Faces Fight For Seat in Senate

Sproul and Snyder Enter Contest for Short Term Nomination.

Topeka, Kans., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Indicating a three-cornered contest, Representative W. H. Sproul, of the Third Kansas District, and Ralph Snyder, president of the Kansas State Farm Bureau, today entered the race against Senator Henry J. Allen for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate for the short term ending in March, 1933. Senator Allen has announced he would be a candidate for the remainder of the term to which he was appointed by Gov. Clyde M. Reed following Vice President Curtis' elevation from the Senate.

Representative Sproul and Mr. Snyder made their announcements after failing to reach an agreement for the withdrawal of one of them from the race in order to consolidate the forces opposing Senator Allen.

Flames Wreck Home, Causing Loss of $4,500

A fire of undetermined origin yesterday wrecked the home of William Heitmuller, on Sargent road northeast, near the District line, and wrought damage estimated at $4,500.

Firemen of two engine companies, who battled the blaze, were handicapped through lack of water hydrants and were forced to lay hose for three-quarters of a mile. The blaze was discovered by Mr. Heitmuller shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday morning. Awakened by the smell of smoke, he found the flames had gained headway over the entire second floor of the building. He and his family succeeded in saving a small amount of furniture and personal effects before being forced to flee.

Justice Holmes Stays At His Home With Cold

(Associated Press.)

Justice Oliver Wendel Holmes, who will be 89 years old in March and who has been presiding over the Supreme Court during the absence of Chief Justice Taft, was detained at home yesterday on orders of his physician.

The distinguished jurist attended a conference held by the court Saturday, but it was said yesterday he had developed a cold over Sunday and was staying indoors as a precautionary measure.

With Chief Justice Taft and Justice Holmes absent, the Supreme Court recessed yesterday until February 24 to prepare opinions in 42 cases.

SEVEN PERSONS DIE IN PLANE CRASHES

Five Instantly Killed When Kansas City Air Liner Plunges to Field.

STUDENT, PILOT PERISH

Kansas City, Kans., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Five persons were killed near here late today in the crash of a monoplane of the Central Air Lines bound from Wichita, Kans., to Kansas City. The cabin plane plunged to earth from an altitude of about 400 feet near the Fairfax Airport and burst into flames.

The dead: Dyke Laudeman, of Kansas City, Kans., pilot; Margaret Dice, St. Joseph, Mo.; Roy C. McKinnon, 5307 Hyde Park boulevard, Homewood, Ill.; William Flynn, of Kansas City, Mo.; James Eggert, 54, Chicago.

The five-passenger Travelair plane, second section of the regular 3 p. m. flight out of Wichita, dipped suddenly into a nose dive at the low altitude and plunged into the dense undergrowth about 3,000 feet from the airport and burst into flames.

Five passengers and Pilot Laudeman left Wichita at 3:30 p. m., a half hour behind schedule. A man who booked passage as "Mr. Haffler" left the plane at Topeka. C. K. Ettinger, of Kansas City, started to board the plane but was informed it planned to stop at Topeka, so he took off on the first section.

The ill-fated plane arrived over the airport and circled according to regulations at 5:28 p. m. and then suddenly crashed to the earth.

Field attendants rushed out with fire extinguishers, but were unable to fight the flames because of the intense heat.

All of the occupants of the ship were believed to have died instantly, as the result of the impact.

The first plane, with its pilot and four passengers, landed safely at the field just before its sister ship crashed.

E. L. Slovinger, manager of the Universal Aircraft Corporation, of which the Central Air Lines is a subsidiary, was unable to explain the accident. He said the plane appeared under control as it circled the port.

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Two men were killed as their plane crashed in a nose dive at Brize Field near here this afternoon. The men were Gordon Smith, student flier at Rochester airport, piloting the plane, and Jack Loesby, of Boston.

Witnesses said the left wing fell from the plane, and it dived. Both men were dead when laborers in a field nearby reached the wreckage.

Thieves Damage Church But Fail to Get Booty

Charles Failing, officer of the church, of Randolph street northwest, near Thirteenth street, discovered the invasion yesterday morning and reported to police. Entrance was gained through an unlatched basement window on Sunday night, police said.

SENATE REGULARS WIN RAYON BATTLE

WHEELER, SIMMONS ROW

(Associated Press.)

With wide swaths in the ranks of Democrats and Republican Independents, the Senate beat back three Democratic attempts yesterday to lower existing tariffs on raw products used for rayon clothing and voted for the slightly higher protection proposed by the Republican regulars.

The debate, lasting all day, centered around an attempt by Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, to eliminate a provision calling for a minimum rate of 45 cents a pound on single and grouped rayon filaments and yarns, the basic products of the growing rayon industry.

Reduction Effort Fails.

After a speech in which he charged that the majority of domestic rayon manufacturers were dominated by an international "price-fixing trust" with headquarters in London, Senator Wheeler lost in his efforts to lower the duty, 52 to 28. Fourteen Democrats, chiefly from rayon centers in the East and South, and 38 Republicans were against him, while 11 other Democrats, 10 Republicans and the 1 Farmer-Labor senator, Shipstead, of Minnesota, supported him.

Efforts to reduce the minimum specific rate from 45 to 40 cents a pound and to eliminate it altogether failed, and the rates proposed by the finance committee Republicans, approximately those of the House bill, were approved without a record vote.

Wheeler and Simmons Clash.

Wheeler angered some of his Democratic colleagues when he said Democrats who stand for fair tariffs would be fooling the people if they voted for the committee rates. Senator Trammell (Democrat), Florida, said he did not propose to let the Montanan speak for the party or have it "measure its standards" by Wheeler's.

At this point Senator Simmons arose to say the Democratic platform stood for a "competitive tariff."

"The senator didn't accept the candidate put up at Houston, though, did he?" inquired Wheeler.

"No, because the candidate deserted the party on other things," returned the veteran Simmons, who had opposed the race of Alfred E. Smith for the Presidency.

Buffalo Blonde Leads $10,000 Holdup Gang

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 17 (A.P.).—The blonde-haired girl bandit, principal figure in several robberies in Buffalo recently, led two young gunmen into the jewelry store of David Glickstein on Broadway, shortly before noon today, bound and gagged Glickstein and escaped with gems valued at $10,000.

Descriptions of the girl given by Glickstein to police tallied with that of the young woman who wielded a revolver in other holdups here, in one of which she exchanged shots with a Seneca street pawnbroker. She was believed to have been wounded in that encounter. Glickstein said she took charge of the entire robbery, giving her orders sharply and rapidly. The trio made their escape in a motor car.

Commission Moves To Cut Paving Cost

Amendment to Borland Law Is Being Drafted by Committee.

Amendment to the Borland law to limit the charge per foot to be made against abutting property owners for paving is being drafted by a committee of District officials named for the purpose by the District Commissioners.

The plan is to fix $3.50 per front foot as the maximum charge against lots having a depth of 100 feet. Smaller lots or those of irregular shape would be assessed at the rate of 3½ cents per square foot, but the assessment would not exceed $3.50 a front foot.

The purpose of the amendment is to relieve property owners of the added burden of cost incident to the construction of extra heavy paving which would not be necessary except for special traffic conditions brought about by general use of the street. The figures decided on as the basis of assessment is estimated as the average cost of the paving of average thickness on an ordinary residential street of usual width. The amendment will be submitted to Congress. The committee drafting is composed of Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, coordinator and chief engineer of the highway department, who conceived the plan, William P. Richards, tax assessor, and William W. Bride, corporation counsel.

Fourth Plane Victim Dies.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan 27 (A.P.).—Ed Butler, of Miami, one of the five occupants of a plane which fell into Lake Worth a week ago yesterday, killing three men, died today of injuries received in the crash.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 11 and recessed at 5:20 to 11 today.

Voted down three Democratic proposals to decrease present duties on rayon filaments and yarns, and then approved slight increases recommended by the finance committee.

Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, demanded the removal of Col. John F. C. Herbert as prohibition administrator for the Montana-Idaho district, threatening to call on the Department of Justice to make public certain evidence it has against Herbert unless this is done.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:25 to noon today.

Attorney General Mitchell urged the expenditures committee to expedite action on legislation to transfer the Prohibition Bureau from the Treasury Department to the Department of Justice.

The expenditures committee refused to invite as witnesses Clarence True Wilson, of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Morals, and F. Scott McBride, of the Anti-Saloon League.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of N. York, asked the immigration committee to remove the "injustices" in the immigration law.

President Hoover asked for an appropriation of $65,000 to restore Wakefield, Va., birthplace of George Washington.

Representative Hartley (Republican), New Jersey, introduced a bill to permit admissions to be charged to boxing shows in the District of Columbia.

Passed the bill authorizing free textbooks for local high school students. It now goes to the President for his signature.

CHICAGO, NEW YORK LINE ASKED BY B.&O.

Proposed Low-Grade, Short Route Would Cost $80,000,000.

AWAITS I. C. C. APPROVAL

Creation of a new low-grade short line between Chicago, New York and Philadelphia, with the construction of a 75-mile link in Pennsylvania and a total outlay of $80,000,000 is proposed by the Baltimore & Ohio through the acquisition of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh and the Buffalo & Susquehanna, the Interstate Commerce Comission was informed yesterday in the course of hearings on the Baltimore & Ohio's application to acquire the Buffalo & Susquehanna.

Meantime, as Daniel S. Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, and George M. Shriver, senior vice president, pressed their claims for the right to obtain the Buffalo & Susquehanna, the Chesapeake & Ohio and the New York Central locked horns over a construction link of 1 mile in the Virginian.

These two developments gave decided impetus to the railroad consolidation plans now being considered by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and for the first time since the commission considered the unifications ten years ago, it appeared that some headway is in the offing toward putting them into effect.

However, as Messrs. Willard and Shriver revealed the intensive plans of the Baltimore & Ohio to increase its volume of traffic and meet present needs, L. F. Loree, who also proposes a new short line between New York and Chicago, paced the floor at the Interstate Commerce Commission and waited the time for him to enter opposition to the entire Baltimore & Ohio proposal. The veteran head of the Delaware & Hudson will be heard tomorrow, although in opposing the carefully laid out plans of Mr. Willard, he will act for the proposed New York-to-Chicago line which will come into being if the Interstate Commerce Commission approves its pending application.

Dead Man Is Summoned As Liquor Conspirator

KEY WORKERS LAUNCH FINAL CAPITAL CHEST DRIVE TODAY

of Washington already have accepted the Chest; it is now merely up to us to do a good job." Touching upon the failure of the special gifts committee to reach within $200,000 of its quota, Mr. Poole said he had no doubt that the "mop-up" campaign to be staged by the committee would accomplish its purpose fully.

Rabbi Lauds Movement.

Rabbi William F. Rosenblum and William Knowles Cooper, former general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, also spoke in behalf of the Community Chest and urged the solicitors to do their utmost, not only to complete the 1930 quota but to exceed it if possible.

More than $200,000 short of its goal at the conclusion of its drive yesterday, the special gifts committee of the Community Chest last night laid plans for a "mop up" campaign to complete its quota.

Collections by the committee yesterday aggregated only $76,874, which, added to the $636,365.76 previously reported, brought the committee's total to $714,239.76. Chairman Newbold Noyes explained that he expected a report on every card held by any member of the committee, and announced that a special meeting will be held tomorrow in the small ballroom of the Willard Hotel, at which a final report will be made.

Every Prospect to Be Seen.

This meeting, he said, will not end activities of the committee unless every prospect has been seen, the individual members reporting at the report meetings held by the metropolitan unit each day.

The gifts received yesterday came from 178 contributors, making a total of 904 contributors to date. Mr. Noyes explained that many of the best prospects are out of the city and that various committees are in communication with them, so that it is expected many of their contributions will be received by tomorrow.

With a battery of six telephones and a committee of twenty workers, operating in shifts, the committee on information and supplies opened headquarters yesterday at the Mayflower Hotel.

Information Bureau Opened.

During the period of the intensive drive this committee, directed by Mrs. John Jay O'Connor, will maintain an information service for the benefit of workers coming to daily luncheons at the Mayflower.

Just outside the luncheon room there will be a table containing literature and other supplies for all those attending the daily luncheons. This table will be in the hands of Junior Leaguers under direction of Miss Marion Jardine, assisted by Misses Helen Stone, Katherine Lowman, Mildred Huston, Catherine Huston and Alice Huston.

Under direction of Mrs. Joseph M. Stoddard, members of the committee will work in shifts of a few hours each.

Mrs. Davis Is Worker.

Among these will be Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the Secretary of Labor; Mrs. William Jardine, Mrs. J. Harry Covington, Mrs. C. B. Drake, Miss Barrine Drake, Mrs. Henry Parsons Erwin, Mrs. Edmund Horgan, Mrs. E. V. Van Fossan, Mrs. LeRoy, Mrs. John Poole, Mrs. Elwood Street, Mrs. Huston Thompson, Mrs. Luke I. Wilson and Mrs. Leo P. Watson.

Region 5 of the Metropolitan unit, which will solicit the entire colored population of the District, held its opening meeting last night at the Whitelaw Hotel.

Bishop E. T. W. Jones, principal speaker, discussed the benefits of the Community Chest to the colored population of Washington and said that while it was obvious that the earning power of the Negros did not compare with those of the white residents of the District, it is still the duty of every colored member of the community to give to the utmost of his ability.

Opportunity and Chance Drop in at Auto Exhibition

Coworkers in Post Campaign Decide to Impress Auditorium Crowd With Advantages Offered to Get Free Some of New Models Now Showing.

"Well, he did it," said Old Joe Opportunity yesterday as he removed an overshoes and emptied a quart or so of water from it.

"Who did it, and what did he do?" asked C. D. Chance, who was arranging a couple of gaboons beneath his dripping overcoat.

"Old Man Weather," snapped his companon. "I dared him to do his worse and, by golly, he done it."

"Tchk, tchk," soothed Chance. "Remember that he assisted you and I in giving work to snow shovelers and others who benefit by bad weather. Think of the harvest the taxi drivers reap on a day like this."

"You're right," replied Opportunity. "Wait 'till I see that old buzzard, Weather, and remind him of how he played into our hands."

"You see, I'm so engrossed with this Post $20,000 Opportunity Campaign right now that I'm apt to think of that first, and of our candidates who are just 'rarin' to go,' but dislike working in the cold and slush. However, that enlarges our field because every man or woman who enters the race now will start on a practically even footing with those who sent in their nominations a week ago."

"Who's leading in the great contest?" interrupted a copy boy who slid into the room approximately 1 inch ahead of a lead base hurled from the direction of the composing room.

"Leading? No one has really started yet," answered Old Joe. "But with the present offer of 100,000 extra votes for every $20 worth of new subscriptions turned in, before 9 p. m. February 19, we're going to see some action.

"Incidentally, this is the greatest vote offer that will be made during the entire campaign," he continued, "and it offers their greatest chance to win to all who have been considering entering this contest."

"Say, let's go over to the auto show," suggested C. D. Chance. "We'll find plenty of people there, admiring these big cars that we are going to give away, who will appreciate the suggestion that they enter The Post campaign and win one without a penny of cost."

"Come on. Let's get out of here. If that bird pounding the typewriter doesn't quit I'll go crazy."

"You are crazy," retorted Chance as he leaped astride the banister and slid to the ground floor, "he quit ten minutes ago."

PARITY NOT REACHED BY BRITISH NAVY CUT

Cruiser Cancellation Does Not Remove Difference With U. S. Estimate.

PREMIER ACT CONFIRMED

London, Jan. 27 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Announcement today by the British admiralty of the cancellation of two British 10,000-ton cruisers, the Surrey and the Northumberland, does not remove the 30,000-ton difference between British and American estimates of what constitutes parity for the world's two mightiest fleets.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald announced suspension of construction on these two vessels before leaving London for his visit to President Hoover. The admiralty order of today simply makes this suspension permanent.

When First Lord of the Admiralty Alexander Victor Alexander announced recently that Great Britain would content herself with a total of 50 cruisers, the Surrey and the Northumberland were not being figured in admiralty estimates of British naval strength.

At the time announcement of suspension of building on these two vessels was first made it was interpreted in some quarters as a British bid for curtailment of the United States naval program calling for construction of fifteen cruisers.

Completion of this program would bring the total number of American big cruisers up to 23. The tentative Anglo-American cruiser agreement discussed by President Hoover and Premier MacDonald by the Rapidan envisaged either 18 or 21 10,000-ton cruisers in the American fleet.

Oil City, Pa., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—One man was killed and two women injured today in an explosion of 50 quarts of nitroglycerine being hauled from Titusville to Ten Mile Bottom, near here. W. J. Sullivan, 40, Titusville, driver of a truck hauling the explosive, was killed.

Mrs. Clarence Seyler and daughter, Mrs. Homer Flockernie, were cut by flying glass when all the windows in the nearby Seyler residence were shattered.

The blast occurred when the truck ran into a snowdrift.

Mother of Borah's Wife Dies in West

Mrs. William McConnell Was 83 and Widow of Former Governor.

Moscow, Idaho, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Mrs. William J. McConnell, 83, widow of one of Idaho's earliest governors and mother of Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the senator, died here today of a sudden heart attack.

She crossed the plains to the Willamette Valley of Oregon in 1852 and saw the colorful development of the West. The man she married in 1886 went into the Boise Basin during the gold rush days, became leader of the vigilantes as they exterminated marauding bands of desperadoes, and then became Idaho's second governor.

As mistress of the executive mansion, Mrs. McConnell participated in the State's most stirring political era, and its most colorful economic and historical crisis.

Senator Borah met his wife, Mary, at the McConnell home while campaigning for the governor, who later became senator.

Funds Suit Names Son of R. B. Hayes

Accounting Is Demanded in Museum Project at Fremont, Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Col. Webb C. Hayes, son of former President Rutherford B. Hayes, was named a defendant in an injunction suit in Common Pleas Court here today, asking that he be made to account for State funds alleged to have been illegally spent in converting the Hayes homestead, in Fremont, Sandusky County, into a State museum.

The suit, instituted by a Fremont tax payer, also asks for $250,000 exemplary damages from Hayes.

The action charges that Hayes, as the leading figure in the museum project, misappropriated State money by using it for purposes other than that for which it was allowed by the legislature. He is asked for an accounting of all the money appropriated by the Legislature since the museum project was incepted 20 years ago. The total of this sum is not specified in the petition. The aggregate amount alleged to have been misappropriated is not listed either.

Snowbird Patrol Nears Home Base

Army Arctic Planes Will Start for Wisconsin Town Today.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Nearing its home base at Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens, Mich., the Army snowbird's patrol wil lstart from here for Wausau, Wis., shortly before noon Tuesday.

A driving snowstorm was encountered today on the jump from Fargo, N. Dak., shortly after the seventeen pursuit ships in the party came within Minnesota. Maj. Ralph Royce, in command, led the patrol over the storm and the remainder of the flight, which required less than two hours, was completed without hazard.

Although the exploit of flying through subzero temperatures from the Great Lakes region along the northern rim of the United States to Spokane has proven feasible, it has shown the necessity of adequate ground forces and landing fields, more clearly than ever before, Maj. Royce said.

SHIP PARLEY WOMEN KEPT BUSY SOCIALLY

Program Expected to Go Far in Furthering Cordiality Among Conferees.

MRS. DAWES AS HOSTESS

London, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—A social hand-shaking program, expected to play both a lively and telling part at the naval conference in strengthening cordial relations, is off in full swing at the British capital with the opening of the second week of the London gathering.

Between sessions of the conference the delegates and their wives are involved in a program of receptions, dinners and teas well-nigh as complicated in the matter of introductions, service and appointments as the working of the conference proceedings. It is here that the wives of the delegates have their innings and play the roles for which they have come to London.

Invitations are out today for the British government's second reception to be held in Admiralty House on February 5, when Mrs. Albert Victor Alexander, wife of the first lord of the admiralty, her husband and 8-year-old debutante daughter will receive the 500 guests.

Lady Cynthia Mosley, daughter of the late Marquis Curzon, and widely known for her Socialist activities, and Lady Parmoor, wife of one of the few Labor members of the House of Lords, will assist in receiving the guests, among whom will be the delegates of the five powers as guests of honor.

In the famous old Admiralty House containing innumerable symbols of Great Britain's naval history, the delegates who have assembled in London for the purpose of reducing naval armaments, will gather in the shadow of pictures of men, who in the past, made England a great naval power.

American women were special guests at an informal tea in Admiralty House this afternoon when Mrs. Alexander showed them about the historic mansion.

Tomorrow night they will be guests at another party—exclusively feminine—in the American Embassy, where Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, wife of the American Ambassador, will regale them with a real American dinner, composed of vianda more popular with American than with British palates. Their husbands will attend the Pilgrim's dinner—a strictly stag affair.

A ceremonial reception given at the Mansion House by Lady Waterlow, wife of London's Lord Mayor, will keep them busy Tuesday afternoon.

"Col. Herbert," he said, "was transferred because the bureau felt that a reorganization of the Baltimore District was necessary for the good of the service and to obtain better cooperation from the United States attorney in that district. So far as the Treasury Department is informed, no investigation has been made of Col. Herbert by Department of Justice agents."

In his attack on Herbert and Quinn Senator Wheeler said that he understood the Department of Justice had produced evidence to show that both were guilty of corruption. Yet, he said, prohibition officials simply took them out of the Baltimore-Washington district and sent Herbert to enforce prohibition in Montana.

"It seems," said Wheeler, "that this is extremely unfair to the people of Montana and that the administration wants to punish them for electing two Democratic senators.

"I serve notice now to the prohibition unit that unless they take Mr. Herbert, against whom these charges have been filed, out of the prohibition department in the State of Montana, I am going to call on the Department of Justice to make public the evidence they have collected with reference to these two men."

Two Bok Millions For Philanthropy

American Foundation, Inc. Left Sum Under Will of Late Editor.

Norristown, Pa., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—The will of Edward W. Bok, editor and philanthropist, who died in Florida this month, bequeaths $2,000,000 to the American Foundation, Inc., created by Mr. Bok five years ago. The will, probated here today, does not estimate the value of the estate.

The American Foundation, Inc., is devoted exclusively to charitable purposes. These include the American peace award; the citizens award of Philadelphia, for heroism among policemen and firemen; the administration of the Philadelphia award annually giving $10,000 to a Philadelphian who has performed an outstanding act for the benefit of the city or its vicinity; Mr. Bok's bird sanctuary in Florida, and certain other charities.

Most of the remainder of Mr. Bok's property is bequeathed to the widow, Mrs. Mary Louise Curtis Bok, and their two sons, William Curtis Bok and Cary William Bok.

Two U. S. Delegation Aids Suffer Sickness

London, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Two members of the staff of advisers brought by the American delegation to the naval conference were under a physician's care today, although it was said neither was seriously ill.

Arthur Wilson Page, Assistant Secretary of State, who is secretary of the American commission to the London conference, was put to bed with stomach trouble. Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, who has been suffering from a severe cold, also was confined again to his room after having shown improvement yesterday.

COURT HEARS OFFER OF NEW FOX BOARDS

Baruch, Delafield, Howell Proposed as Trustees for Film Concerns.

EARNINGS AT TOP, CLAIM

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Displaying an example of the resourcefulness with which he built up the great enterprises bearing his name from an initial capital of $1,600, William Fox tonight presented a new front against the financial vicissitudes which threaten to remove them from his control.

Arguing that receivership for the Fox Film Corporation and Fox Theaters Corporation would be "unthinkable," Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Fox, today asked Federal Judge Coleman to "consider that the earnings of these companies were greater in the last week than ever before in their history."

As an alternative to the receivership asked in three suits argued today and a fourth filed this morning, Mr. Untermyer proposed reorganization of the Fox companies under a new board of trustees and a new board of directors.

The new trustees proposed by Mr. Untermyer would be Bernard M. Baruch, H. Delafield, president of the Bank of America; and Herbert P. Howell, president of the Commercial National Bank.

Three banking houses, Lehman Bros., Bancamerica, Blair & Co., and Dillon, Read & Co., were named by Mr. Untermyer as a financial group ready to help carry forward the reorganization plan.

A new board of directors for both Fox Film and Fox Theaters would be composed, under the new plan, of William Fox, Jack E. Leo, Winfield E. Sheehan, Bernard Baruch, or Bernard Baruch, Jr., E. R. Tinker, Louis Abrons and a seventh to be named by the trustees.

Objections to the plan were promptly voiced by counsel for Susan Dryden Kuser, who brought one of the suits for receivership, and attorneys for the Western Electric Co. and Halsey, Stuart & Co. Counsel for the last two creditors insisted their clients would rather have a receivership.

The latest of four petitions for receivership was filed early today by Maurice Shutte, holder of 100 shares of Class A Fox Theater stock, who asked an equity receivership for Fox Theaters Corporation stock.

Long Courtship Is Seen In Betrothal of Ileana

Bucharest, Roumania, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—The friendship between Princess Ileana and Count Alexander, of Hochberg, which is expected to blossom into official announcement of their engagement next Saturday, dates back four years. The pair corresponded all this time and met again last year in Munich while the princess was visiting relatives. The count has since visited Roumania several times and joined in sports and festivities with the princess.

News of the coming engagement has made a good impression on the public, for the princess is a most popular daughter of Dowager Queen Marie. The count is the second son of the Prince of Pless. It is understood that after the wedding the couple would live in Roumania.

CURRENT EVENTS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

FISHERIES REFORMS URGED IN RICHMOND

13 Bills on Sea Food Situation Are Prepared in Assembly by Legislators.

COMMITTEES ARE BUSY

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 27.—Thirteen bills providing for drastic reorganization of the commission of fisheries and for better enforcement machinery were dropped in the hoppers of the Virginia General Assembly today, and, although it is not known definitely what he will recommend it is believed that they will carry into effect Gov. Pollard's plan, as pledged in his campaign.

Always a controversial subject, the sea food situation has grown more acute of recent years, and the entire State is looking forward to a bit in the forthcoming battle, rather than leaving it entirely to the Tidewater section which heretofore has handled it.

The commissioner of fisheries would be given greatly increased powers, and his commission would be made a fact finding body to recommend legislation as well as to enforce it through full-time salaried inspectors to replace fee system part-time workers, who are now administering the law. A tax on all oysters, both privately planted and those taken from the public beds, would provide the necessary additional funds.

Pilotage Bill is Resumed.

Neither the Senate nor the House remained in session more than a few minutes today, giving over most of the time to committee hearings, one of which was on a pilotage bill, which, after heated and lengthy debate, was referred to a subcommittee. The bill was in reference to rate-making regulations. Senator George W. Layman, of Craig, introduced in the Senate a bill that would continue the Halsey commission for the Liberal Arts College for Women until the session of 1932 with instructions to report on some definite location for the school, which the women of Virginia, over the protest of University of Virginia alumni, are trying to have located in Charlottesville.

Senator Ward Swank, of Harrisonburg, tomorrow will introduce a bill that would provide for the location of the college in his city through conversion of the State Teachers College maintained there. A similar proposal has been made by Fredericksburg, while the Lynchburg representative has introduced a bill offering a free site in that city and providing for the erection of a college there. Norfolk and Roanoke are also expected to make bids for the college.

In its brief session this afternoon, the Senate passed a bill, introduced by Senator N. B. Early, of Green, which would permit President Hoover to fish the year round in the Rapidan River, so long as the Federal Government keeps the stream stocked with the fish he likes best to catch.

20 Judicial Council Bills.

Twenty bills of the judicial council proposing far-reaching changes in court practice, will be considered tomorrow by the courts of justice committees of both houses, and the gasoline-tax distribution plans, of which several have been proposed, will be threshed out in a public hearing of the roads committee.

Delegate J. Fred Birrell, of Alexandria, introduced in the House a resolution that would call on Gov. Pollard to bring before the next governors' conference a proposal that the existing practice of having all presidential electors in each State elected in a block be abolished and that the electoral vote of each State be cast in proportion to the popular vote for each of the presidential candidates.

Senator W. H. Jeffreys, of Mecklenburg, introduced a bill in the Senate that would create the Virginia bridge authority, which would be empowered to build a toll bridge or tunnel, estimated to cost well over $10,000,000, to connect Norfolk and Portsmouth.

CHICAGO POLITICIAN LINKED WITH THEFTS

leased after being questioned by Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the State's attorney.

In defending himself Busch, who is president of the Forty-second Ward Republican Club, explained to his chief that he lives in a cosmopolitan ward and that request for aid from persons whom he knows but slightly are not infrequent. He denied the telephone conversations through which the police had linked him with the gang.

Roche and his aids listened in on telephone conversations between the suspected robbers for nearly a month, authorities said. The raids thwarted, Roche said, plans to rob a Detroit hotel tonight.

The wire tapping, the investigators said, was a part of their surveillance of six men, who were arrested and released following the holdup of Charles M. Richter, his wife and four servants in his Gold Coast home January 6. Jewels valued at $25,000 were taken.

Tommy Abbott, purported leader of the ring, said by police to have been at one time driver and bodyguard for "Samoots" Amatuma, erstwhile leader of the Genna alcohol gang, was arrested as leader of the ring.

Abbott's wife, Lillian, also was taken in the raids.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Producers of Milk Fear Cut in Prices

Association Is Attempting to Curtail Shipments Into District.

Curtailment of the milk shipments into Washington to avert a possible glutting of the market by overproduction is being attempted by the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association. Shipments into this city are said to be exceeding the daily consumption by 7,000 gallons, it was learned. Producers are faced with a reduction in price if the present rate of shipments are maintained, it is feared.

I. W. Keaps, manager of the Baltimore Milk Producers Association, has told the Frederick County producers that while the producers organization is doing everything to absorb the surplus, overproduction has reached a point where it may react against the producers by price curtailment.

At present, it was said, the dairies are under contract to pay the present wholesale price of 15 cents until May, and a reduction at this time would confront them with a loss.

MURDER AND SUICIDE IS VERDICT IN LAUREL

Coroner's Jury Finds That Montgomery Slew Youth and Killed Himself.

LAST RITES ARRANGED

Murder and suicide was the verdict of a coroner's jury which last night held an inquest into the deaths of Lynn Montgomery, 24-year-old race track follower, and A. Gordon Wellford, 14-year-old Laurel schoolboy, who were found shot to death in a wooded field almost in the heart of Laurel Sunday morning.

The coroner's jury, with Justice of the Peace Henry M. Scott acting as coroner, came to the conclusion that the Wellford boy was "murdered at the hands of Lynn Montgomery with a 38-caliber Iver Johnson revolver on Monday night about 11 p. m., January 20, 1930," and that Montgomery came to his death by "suicide at his own hands."

The inquest was held in the undertaking establishment of Lloyd Kaiser at Laurel and was well attended. Jessie Easton, Nelson Fisher and Chief of Police Milton Haines of Laurel testified as to the position of the bodies and that the older man had the revolver clutched in his left hand.

Army Man Testifies.

Sergt. Fred Sanders, small arms expert of Fort Meade, told of the effect of pistol wounds and expressed the opinion that Montgomery had shot the youth and then himself.

The boy had a bullet wound in his chest and another in his head, and Montgomery had shot himself in the head. A fourth bullet had been discharged, but Sergt Sanders said this probably had been fired in the death grasp of Montgomery into the ground.

Funeral services for the Wellford boy will be held this afternoon at the Centenary Northern Methodist Church at Laurel. Burial will be in the cemetery of St. Mary's Catholic Church, where his little brother was buried some time ago. A special dispensation was obtained by the Rev. Joseph Myers, pastor of the church, to permit the burial of the boy in the cemetery.

Trainer to Arrange Burial.

Montgomery is believed to have come from somewhere in Idaho, according to Fred Baker, trainer for Breckenridge Long, Assistant Secretary of State under President Wilson, at whose stables in Laurel Montgomery worked until about a week ago, when he was discharged for drunkenness. His mother is dead, it is believed. Police believe that he had beeen using an assumed name. He was a mysterious character and very little was known of his antecedents.

Baker told authorities that he would take charge of the body and provide burial.

Members of the coroner's jury were W. Clarence White, foreman; Vernon Young, Carroll Divens, Milton Haines, Dell Fisher, Alton Donaldson, Ridge Selby, J. E. Travers, O. C. Long, Harry Merson, Olan Redmiles and T. B. Siehler.

Lecture by Dr. Porter Is Delivered in Takoma

Members of the Takoma Horticultural Club were given an illustrated lecture last night in the Takoma Park Public Library by Dr. B. A. Porter, of the Bureau of Entomology, Department of Agriculture, on the prevention and extinction of aphidae, or what is commonly known to the laity as tree and shrub lice.

Dr. Porter exhibited the most practical equipment for the use of the small home owner and gave what he termed the most effective formulae with which to combat the different species of aphidae.

NORTHEAST SECTION GETS PANTHER VISIT

TRAIL IS LOST IN THAW

Washington's elusive "panther" was seen in the northeast section again last night.

While passing Rock Creek Cemetery a man whose identity police failed to obtain, reported he saw a large catlike animal among the tombstones. He called police and reserves from both the Tenth and Thirteenth Precincts rushed to the cemetery. Admittedly very frightened, the man was unable to give a clear description of the beast, but police found its tracks in the snow at the cemetery and during their search later found more traces near the Foreign Mission Seminary on Harewood road. Owing to the thaw of the snow, however, they were unable to find a clear trail, and were forced to give up the search near Catholic University.

The tracks were described as being 4 inches square.

Policeman Sees Beast.

Wider and greater impetus was given to the "panther" scare and hunt yesterday when new depredations were reported from Charles County, Md., and it was seen and shot at by a Washington policeman near Fort Lincoln Cemetery on the Bladensburg road.

From La Plata came reports that an animal resembling the marauding panther had killed two dogs Sunday night, while the animal also is reported to have killed and mutilated hogs at Waldorf and in the vicinity of Mattawoman Creek.

Mrs. G. Hyden, of La Plata, said she saw the animal killing and eating one of the dogs, which were found yesterday morning torn and mutilated by the claws and fangs of some animal near the Hyden home.

Another Reports Animal.

While cruising along the Bladensburg road early yesterday, Traffic Policeman Watson Salkeld, of the Twelfth Precinct, said he saw an animal 6 or 7 feet long near Fort Lincoln Cemetery. Quickly dismounting from his machine, he stated, he took two shots at the animal with his revolver as it fled through the cemetery. He declared the beast was of a yellowish color.

These reports intensified the searches for the prowling marauder in both northeast Washington and in southern Maryland.

Prior to these reports the hunted beast was last seen by Edward Smith, of 800 Castle place northeast, Saturday night, who shot the animal with a load of birdshot while it was fighting through the fence to his yard with his three dogs.

Reward Is Offered.

A reward of $10 was voted last night at a meeting of the Silver Spring Lions' Club for the capture of the much-hunted beast provided it proves to be a lion. Since the club proposes to adopt the animal as a mascot, the offer does not hold good if it turns out to be a panther.

An attack upon a hound dog by a savage creature was reported yesterday to Sheriff Vernon Cooksey of Charles County, Md., by Mrs. Earl Hayden, of near La Plata. Mrs. Hayden reported that an animal with sleek, silvery hair and a large head, about the size of a large dog, had killed the hound. She saw the attack about 1 o'clock yesterday morning by the light of automobile headlights.

Willis Posey, also of La Plata, who viewed the hogs killed in Prince Georges County, said that the claw marks on the dog were similar to those on the hogs.

was private and all information suppressed by Mrs. Murphy." Not even the date of the youth's death is known, Mrs. Carroll avers.

Mrs. Murphy tonight issued a statement denying every charge in Mrs. Carroll's bill. Her spokesman added that Mrs. Murphy is preparing to file suit against Mrs. Carroll for the injury she says the charges have done her.

Mrs. Kent, witness of the will, and once Mr. Murphy's secretary, said:

"The whole thing is absurd. Mr. Murphy was remarkably strong and active and for any one to say that he was mentally incompetent is preposterous."

CITY BUSINESS MEN FLAYED BY THORPE

first startled his audience by declaring that Washington might well be called a "city of blindness" because many of its business men and other residents are unaware of the magnificent background and historical objects in the city. These, he pointed to as the real assets of which the local business man might make capital.

Another dart from Mr. Thorpe was the charge that many business men in Washington make their money in this city and invest their profits in other places. Still another was the assertion that the business men who are constantly harping on the need for more industry in the National Capital are the ones who sit back and do nothing and expect others to bring industrial developments to the city.

He recommended that business men insert sentiment into their business methods and awake to the assets awaiting to be monopolized "in the very stones and trees of the city." He said:

"Let us resolve that Washington shall no longer be called the 'city of the blind.' Let us each create for ourselves, and those with whom we come in contact, a sentiment for Washington, not only because it is a good business asset for the community, but because it will enlarge and enrich our daily lives."

The other speakers and the improvements they outlined for 1930 were: David Lynn, Capitol architect, $13,284,806 for improvements adjacent to the Capitol; Hanse Hamilton, general manager of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., $3,500,000; Charles W. Eliot 2d, city planner, $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 in park improvements; Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty, $3,900,000 in District improvements; C. Melvin Sharpe, representing the Washington Electric Co. and the Potomac Electric Co., $5,900,000, the largest annual expenditure in the history of these companies; George Whitwell, secretary of the Washington Gaslight Co., $600,000; Joshua Evans, jr., of the District National Bank, $40,000,000 from the Treasury Department in Federal improvements in the District, and J. Edward Heberle, of the Capital Traction Co., $3,600,000.

The major part of the Federal expenditures mentioned depends on the passage of the bills to be acted on at an early date in Congress.

Bankruptcy Plea Filed By District Policeman

Patrolman Clay E. Connell, attached to the Fourteenth Police Precinct and residing at 2426 Tunlaw road northwest, petitioned the District Supreme Court yesterday to adjudge him a voluntary bankrupt and declared his debts exceeded his assets by more than $10,000.

The petition filed by the policeman listed liabilities of $11,486.86 and assets of $569.80. Most of the liabilities resulted from first and second trust mortgages on real estate, the petition revealed.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper figure, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

1930 MOTOR SHOW ATTRACTS VISITORS

Opening of Auditorium in Morning Proves to Be Popular.

RADIO ADDRESS TONIGHT

Undismayed by the inclement weather, additional thousands of National Capital motoring enthusiasts visited the Washington Auditorium yesterday and last night to enjoy the display which is making the tenth annual automobile show a mighty magnet among current attractions. If the weather left something to be desired, the visitors found the big structure at Nineteenth and E streets northwest a warm and dry haven and they thrilled to the setting of light and color in which the motor cars of the new season greeted them.

Long-heralded as constituting a distinct advance in beauty of design and efficiency, the automobiles were found to measure up to all expectations and in many instances distinct and pleasurable surprises awaited the visitor. Most persons who attended the show found the time all too short for inspection of all of the scores of varying styles exhibited and many were heard to voice the intention of returning later in the week.

In addition to study of the eye-filling cars themselves the crowds evinced keen interest in the various working models on view. By means of these they were enabled to grasp the importance of new mechanical improvements and generally add to their store of knowledge concerning the whys and wherefores of the modern automobile.

The innovation of opening the doors at 10 o'clock in the morning, instead of in the afternoon proved a popular one. According to Rudolph Jose, chairman of the show committee of the Washington Automotive Trade Association, many visitors found the early hours the most convenient in which to view the exhibits and he said also that attendance at the opening Saturday evening and all day yesterday indicated that the week will see a new attendance record hung up.

Richard J. Murphy, vice president of the Washington Automotive Trade Association, which sponsors the show, will address the audience of Station WRC at 7:30 o'clock this evening on "Beauty and the 1930 Motor Car." Last evening Frank G. Stewart, member of the show committee, spoke from Station WMAL on "What Makes the New Cars Safe?"

Dry Raiders Slay Man In Tennessee Campaign

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Slaying of Thomas Norris, alleged bootlegger, in a gun fight in Franklin County, Tenn., by the county sheriff, was reported today to Federal prohibition headquarters here by W. B. Shafner, of Nashville, deputy administrator.

Shafner's report said that a sheriff, whose name is Ashburn, and Fred M. Curtis, a Federal agent, had raided a still and that when the sheriff and his posse were returning by a different route from that taken by Curtis and his prisoner they came upon Morris and two other men who were alleged to be transporting liquor. Morris opened fire, the sheriff said, and in the fight that followed he was killed.

Fatal "Prank" Shooting Declared Justifiable

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—A coroner's jury today held that the fatal "prank" shooting of Miss Cora Belle Brown Saturday night was "justifiable homicide" and released Otis D. Waller, who admitted the shooting, from custody.

Waller told officers he shot the woman and T. D. Watts, who posed as her husband, when the couple called at his apartment and ordered him to "stick 'em up." In the hospital, Watts said the order was a joke, done as a result of alleged threats received by Waller's wife. Both couples lived in the same apartment house.

Irene Bordoni, Worried, Applies for Citizenship

Marriage Annulment May Make Her Woman Without Country.

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Irene Bordoni, motion picture and stage actress, who is a little bit worried just now over the possibility of being a woman without a country, today applied for American citizenship.

Miss Bordoni became an American citizen once, automatically, by her marriage to E. Ray Goetz, motion picture producer, but the marriage was annulled in Chicago three months ago, as it was found to have been performed before the expiration of the time limit forbidding Goetz to remarry after a divorce.

One lawyer told her, Miss Bordoni said, that the annulment took away her American citizenship, and another, she said, informed her that it failed to restore her French citizenship.

In her application today Miss Bordoni stated that her parents were Corsicans, and that she spent her childhood on the island. All true Corsicans, she explained, claim to be cousins of Napoleon Bonaparte.

T. J. Brown officiating. He was one of a "progressive" group of Carolinians driven from their homes in Wilmington, following riots there, and advised never to return. His political activities were instrumental in electing the last Negro representative to Congress prior to the election of Representative Oscar De Priest.

He came here in 1898 and was employed soon after in the Treasury Department, where he served for 30 years until his retirement last June. He is survived by his wife, Aurelia L. Howe, and a son Alfred G. Howe, of Chicago.

STEEL MERGER PLAN OF FINANCE SHOWN

New Republic Corporation Will Issue 1,985,144 Common Shares.

NO FLOTATION OF BONDS

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—The process of welding four steel companies into the Republic Steel Corporation was advanced a step today in the announcement of the basis on which stockholders of the constituted units are to be offered shares in the new company with assets of $335,000,000 making it the country's third largest steel producer.

The capital structure of the corporation also was revealed. There are to be 1,985,144 shares of no par common stock, carried at a valuation of $167,725,688, and $55,000,00 in 6 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock of $100 par. No bond financing is planned and none of the stock is to be publicly offered immediately, since the merger plan is essentially an exchange of the preferred and common shares of Republic Iron & Steel Co., Central Alloy Steel Corporation, Donner Steel Co., Inc., and the Bourne-Fuller Co., for equities in Republic Steel.

In addition, the corporation is to assume $59,059,400 in the bonds of the merging companies.

The new company will have important properties in the Birmingham and Youngstown steel districts and at principal cities of the Great Lakes and it will own large natural resources. Financial circles believe that eventually Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and the Inland Steel Co. will form part of the combination. In addition, the Trumbull-Cliffs Furnace Co. is to be merged by an exchange of its stock for shares of Republic Iron & Steel Co. prior to completion of the latter's exchange for Republic Steel Corporation stock.

"Palmolive is the soap which thoroughly cleanses the skin . . . and at the same time reveals natural loveliness"

LEON DESFOSSÉ
—one of the best known of all Parisian beauty specialists

Desfossé has a most unusual salon in Paris . . . mosaic floors, marble walls lend an elegance of background women delight in.

"Palmolive is so effective because of a unique blending of the palm and olive oils it contains, agents which cleanse and soothe the complexion and at the same time bring out natural color."

L Desfossé

The cosmetic oils in this famous facial soap are your best safeguard against modern dangers to skin beauty.

If you've been to Paris . . . if your friends have been to Paris . . . you probably know of the chic beauty salon of Desfossé on the Rue St. Honoré. The establishment Desfossé has been a training school for many of the now famous French specialists, including Emile Massé of the Rue Daunou.

Desfossé, himself, was called to Madrid to attend the members of the Spanish Court at the time Alfonso XIII was crowned king. He was also called to Germany to attend the princesses when the last king of Saxony was crowned.

It is a man of such international professional importance who urges you to use Palmolive Soap. He says: "I always advise my clients to wash with Palmolive Soap and warm water, making first a lather with both hands, then thoroughly rinsing with warm water and with cold, thus toning up the complexion."

Desfossé is not alone in his opinion of the tonic effects of palm and olive oils. Today, a tremendously impressive group of more than 18,900 beauty specialists—throughout the world—advise Palmolive Soap.

Ordinary soaps won't do

Beware of using crude soaps, soaps made of undesirable fats, soaps artificially colored or highly perfumed. They may be harmless. But to experiment is dangerous. Palmolive is made of no other oils but those of palm and olives. It is these oils which give it Nature's own green color. They make unnecessary the addition of heavy perfumes.

"The skin must be thoroughly washed, but care taken to employ only the soap which gives the greatest benefits with the least inconvenience," the great Desfossé warns you. So many soaps are irritating. You should not experiment when it is so easy to buy Palmolive. Millions use it for the bath as well as the face.

You will find it safe, protective, bland and soothing. The world's great beauty experts advise it. Try Palmolive and you will understand why.

THE DISTRICT WATER SYSTEM.

Water users of Washington face an increase of 20 to 25 per cent in rates and a 50 per cent increase in assessments for new mains. The District Commissioners have decided this is the only practical means of securing funds for the extensive improvements that are necessary.

In taking this action the Commissioners disregarded the recommendations of the committee of engineers which investigated the need for extending the system and how it could be best financed. This committee considered improvements in the water system a capital investment, and therefore suggested that the $425,000 necessary be taken from the general revenue of the District. In this way Congress would have contributed a fraction of the amount through its $9,000,000 contribution to the District budget.

The difficulties of the Water Department are well known. Congress contributes nothing to the support of the water system, but the Government uses a large share of the water. The present system was constructed in part with Federal funds. As long as the Government was contributing a considerable share of the capital investment, it did not work a hardship on water users to pay the entire cost of operating the Water Department. But now water users of the District are asked not only to pay the costs of operating the system, but also to put up the capital needed for improvement, while the Government continues to draw nearly 9,000,000 gallons of water per day without paying for it. If Congress paid its fair share of this cost there would be no need of an increase in rates to provide for improvements. This situation demands a readjustment of the financial relations between the Federal and District governments, not an increase in water rates.

BEN EIELSON, VIKING.

Carl Ben Eielson, like a true Viking, carried the traditions of his Norse ancestors on the northern seas into the Arctic and Antarctic regions by air. The tragedy which resulted in the crash of his plane in the icy wastes of North Cape, Siberia, ended a career distinguished for courage, vigor and ambition.

Discovery of his demolished plane with its store of provisions buried in the snow was foreshadowed by the long fruitless search for Capt. Eielson and his companion, Earl Borland. So long as there was hope that the fliers might have landed safely the search was continued. But three months in the Arctic at this time of year with scant food supplies left little hope for finding anything but corpses and a wrecked plane.

Capt. Eielson functioned at his best in the polar regions. He gained a reputation as one of the most daring and efficient airmen of the world when he piloted Sir Hubert Wilkins from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Green Harbor, Spitzbergen, in the spring of 1928. He was next heard from in the Antarctic with the first Wilkins South Polar expedition. His last flight was made in an attempt to take off passengers and furs from the icebound trading ship Nanuk. An accompanying plane turned back because of adverse weather, but Eielson and Borland flew on to their destruction.

Chivalrous courage has not been better illustrated than by the lives of Amundsen, Eielson and other descendants of the Norsemen who have gone to death on aerial missions of humanity in the Arctic.

EMANCIPATION OF WORKERS.

Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, sees no basis for the popular theory that the replacement of workmen by machines will bring disaster to the country. Thousands of men have been temporarily thrown out of employment by this process, and individual readjustments are some times difficult, but the outcome of this mechanization of industry redounds to the benefit of workmen as well as investors.

New jobs brought into being by the steadily mounting levels of living, says Dr. Klein, should eventually take care of virtually all the men and women displaced by machines. As a larger percentage of the country's work is done by machinery the need for human toil decreases. Hours of labor need not be so long, and wages can be higher, because of the greater productivity of the individual plus mechanical power.

The greatest assurance to the working man, however, seems to lie in the increased demand for personal services, amusements, education, and luxuries of all varieties. If a workman, is able to produce twice as much with the aid of a machine, he is entitled to higher pay and a higher standard of living. The net result is not a smaller demand for services but a larger demand for goods. There is enough constructive work in the United States to keep all its inhabitants busy, and when the time comes that machines can do a larger share of that work the multiplied wants of the people will provide employment for those replaced by machinery.

No doubt there will always be a problem of making adjustments during the transition period of each industry to a mechanical basis. But the larger problem is that of keeping the balance between capital and labor, so that the benefits of the new system will be widely distributed. Universal machinery means highly skilled, highly paid labor, working fewer hours, and enjoying more of the comforts and luxuries of life. Already the process shows its advantages, as may be proved by comparing the condition of American workers with that of workers in countries where machinery is not used.

FOREIGN TRADE OF THE SOUTH.

No more conclusive evidence of the commercial and industrial development of the South and the West can be found than the recent survey of the Department of Commerce showing the part these sections play in American foreign trade. Fifteen years ago New York handled more than 61 per cent of the country's exports on the basis of value. That percentage has now shrunk to 47, due not to a decrease of trade through that city but to a much more rapid development of trade through other ports. Taken as a group the Southern States, including Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, lead all other sections of the country in the volume of exports. This section is second in the volume of imports received. The Middle Atlantic States still lead in the volume of imports, and rank second in exports.

More than 20,000,000 tons of export products passed through Southern ports during the last fiscal year. Texas took first place, Louisiana second, and Virginia third. These same ports received 13,731,000 tons of imports. Louisiana and Maryland were foremost among them as importers. The port of New Orleans is second only to New York. Baltimore has risen to fourth place, Houston to eighth and Norfolk to tenth. Galveston, Baton Rouge, Mobile, Tampa and Newport News have gained places among the 25 foremost ports of the country.

More than one-third of all exports from the United States during the last fiscal year was handled through these Southern ports. The combined ports of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware handled about 27 per cent of the export volume, although the percentage in terms of worth was larger. It is significant that the South should make such rapid strides in development of its foreign trade at a time when manufactured goods occupy first place among American exports. Its achievements in foreign commerce are further evidence of the rapidity with which the South is being industrialized.

FREE TEXTBOOKS.

The House has passed the Senate bill to provide books and educational supplies free of charge to pupils of the public schools of the District of Columbia. Since 1891 textbooks and supplies have been furnished children in the elementary grades. The bill enacted authorizes the extension of these facilities to pupils of the junior and senior high schools.

A deficiency appropriation bill should be introduced forthwith so that books and supplies may be furnished without delay. The initial appropriation needed is $242,088, of which amount approximately $55,000 will be expended for supplies. After the introduction of the system an annual appropriation of only approximately $100,000 will be called for, of which $55,000 will be required for supplies and $45,000 for the replacement of textbooks. Such small appropriations will have no effect upon the tax rate, but free books and supplies will facilitate the education of the young and make the public schools still stronger bulwarks of enlightened government.

MAJ. PRATT'S REPORT.

The public has confidence in the honesty and faithfulness of the Police Department. But Washington is not, and should not be, entirely satisfied with its police system. Elsewhere projects to improve methods and bring to the assistance of the police the most modern means of detecting and combatting crime have made considerable progress. It may be said that in some respects the Washington department lags behind the times.

Maj. Pratt, superintendent of police, suggests improvements which are "most essential to bring the force to a standard of efficiency and effectiveness comparable, in so far as may be possible, with that of the great municipal departments of European cities." Besides recommending an increase in personnel, increased pay and improved methods of training, he suggests the need of modern motor equipment and of an analytical chemical laboratory in charge of a trained analytical chemist. The communication system should be brought up to date by the adoption of radio. The traffic problem demands investigation and analysis by trained engineers.

Maj. Pratt's report is well worthy of the attention of Congress. The effective methods and machinery employed elsewhere in the United States and abroad should be provided here.

"DILAPIDATED FIRETRAPS."

Congress has before it a bill, offered by Chairman Britten, of the House naval affairs committee, authorizing an appropriation of $3,200,000 to replace, remodel and extend existing structures, and to construct additional buildings at the Naval Hospital in Washington. Objections to the bill have been voiced by several Democratic members of the House, on the ground that this hospital is in no worse condition than several other naval hospitals elsewhere in the country.

Most of the buildings comprising the Naval Hospital in Washington are old, out of date, and in bad condition. The committee appointed to inspect the hospital has been told that more than half of the patients are quartered in temporary buildings, and that these buildings are "dilapidated firetraps."

The Naval Hospital here takes care, as best it can under such circumstances, of hundreds of war veterans, as well as other persons entitled to treatment. The Veterans' Bureau turns over to it large numbers of former service men.

Congress has provided generously for Walter Reed Hospital, but the Naval Hospital has been badly neglected. It should be modernized and fireproofed without delay.

A FATHERLY PRINCE.

So much interest was manifest in the little principality of Liechtenstein when its existence was recently threatened by the death of its famous monarch, Prince John the Good, that the determination of its future status will not pass without notice. The handful of rustic mountaineers who paid allegiance to Prince John have elected to retain their tiny country intact by bestowal of the crown upon the prince's brother, who becomes Francis the First.

This tiny state occupies a unique position near the head of the Rhine River. In spite of the shifting of European borders it has maintained its sovereignty since 1723. When the wave of democratic sentiment swept over Europe following the World War the gracious Prince John decided to abdicate and allow the people self-government. His decision met with such a storm of protest and renewal of fealty that he agreed to reign until his death. When that event came to pass last spring it was expected that the miniature state would become a part of Austria or recast its constitution in more democratic form. The Parliament has decided, however, to perpetuate the principality.

Prince Francis has a lofty ideal before him. His predecessor earned the reputation of being one of the most generous princes of history. The attachment of the people to this form of government is unquestionably founded upon the administration of Prince John. It will be interesting to see whether the new prince will assume the complete tax burden and provide for the indigent and disabled as his brother did. There will be a general hope for favorable reaction toward the new regime, if for no other reason than that so unique and interesting a little state may be preserved.

Why not abolish the Senate? asks Senator Caraway. Certainly! That's the way to abolish lobbying.

Consumption of ginger ale in Chicago has increased 1,500 per cent, notwithstanding the heavy bump-off of the population.

Gen. Smuts calls the States of the Union a little league of nations. Yep, they have set up a supergovernment, court and all.

Lieut. Wenz, of the Navy, has spotted landmarks from an airplane at a distance of 175 miles. That fellow should be a prohibition agent.

A German claims to have invented an unsinkable battleship. That would make naval warfare impracticable and break up the London conference.

Dean Hawkes, of Columbia University, finds college entrants morally immature. It doesn't take long for some of them to become immorally mature.

POTOMAC CANYONS

By ARTHUR A. SHURTLEFF,
President, American Society of Landscape Architects, in the New York Times.

It is hard to believe that Washington possesses notable canyon scenery almost within sight of the dome of the Capitol. To the ordinary visitor the Washington terrain is flattish. The Potomac at the Lincoln Memorial is pond-like and sluggish like a backwater.

But take your car and see the country a half-hour up stream. Then you come upon canyons. They drop down sheer-sided like many of the famous ones of the West, and they lead on straight and frowning for miles. The river is not placid here. It runs like a mill-race. You have no temptation to walk near the edge of the palisades. A misstep would sink you straight down in the swift current which has swept the canyon clear.

At a mile above the canyon's lower portal you hear a distant roar. No one needs to tell you that great falls lie above. That sound does not arise from local rapids in the canyon. Between those walls in the silence of the great strength is its token of might, but at the canyon's upper end the roar comes from a fall which is well named the Great Falls of the Potomac. Here the whole stream plunges down into the canyon over a series of small falls extending for nearly a mile and dropping from terrace to terrace.

This stream possesses power to move trolley cars as well as to move the human spirit with awe. Of course, the engineer is enthralled by it like the man in the street who worships it as a thing of vast beauty. There could be little water in the deep fall if the engineers did not covet it for power. Their figures prove that the depth of the canyon, its length and the height of the falls are not a poetical fancy. The man who is enraptured by the loveliness of the raging waters, the cliffs, the overhanging woodlands, and who pictures these as a part of the permanent scenic interest and beauty of the region of the National Capital, does not need to plead that these falls are notable in size. The engineers have proved it by their desire to back the water into the canyon to the very tops of the palisades and to build a second dam across the brink of the great falls. The beauty would vanish, but the trolley cars would move and lights would gleam by the power twenty miles away.

Who shall prevail? Shall the man prevail who would preserve this notable scenery for the Nation in the Nation's Capital, where it can be enjoyed by every visitor to our memorials and monuments, or shall the man prevail who would exchange this beauty for kilowatts, which can be had nowadays as a commodity from the wires of any long-distance power line?

"Giddap!"

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

LOST BEAUTY.

A man compelled to walk a mile
Brooded o'er business all the while;
Head down he trudged along the road
And fretted 'neath his little load,
And God, who saw him, straight began
To try to cheer that troubled man.

With fleecy clouds He trimmed the sky,
Hoping to catch the wanderer's eye.
A singing bird upon a tree
For him poured out its melody,
And at a window pane a child
Greeted him gleefully and smiled.

But through his self-established gloom
He never saw the trees a-bloom;
About his feet wild blossoms grew,
And everywhere were splendors set
To make the man his care forget.

For him God threw His wonders out,
Birds, beasts and men were all about
And busy with their love or hate;
But this man, coming to his gate,
Exclaimed in doleful tones and sad:
"Lord, what a dull, bleak walk I've had!"

The Best Way to Handle Sheep Is the Worst Way to Handle Wolves.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THIS is the story of four men called criminals.

One man shot and killed a policeman who attempted to arrest him as he climbed from a store window at night.

Another placed a bomb that killed three people and made seven others cripples for life.

These two were hard men without capacity for remorse—brutal, cruel, vicious men, who deliberately made war on society and regarded honest men as their legitimate prey.

Evil lawyers, paid by more evil men, long delayed their punishment, but in the end they were sent to prison.

Consider now the second pair.

One of them, a youth still in college, played with vice to find adventure and in a drunken brawl killed one of his friends.

The other, a middle-aged office man, sick and hopeless, robbed his employer to provide luxuries for a nagging wife.

These two were defended by mediocre lawyers, and bored juries authorized judges equally bored to give them untempered justice.

Thus all four men came to prison, and occupied cells side by side.

The prison was not a pleasant place to house men.

It was crowded, and there were vile odors in the cramped and sunless cells.

Humane men provide better stables for their horses.

And when the prison and its shortcomings were described in print, the people began to clamor for reform.

They forgot the innocent victims of the criminals and the widows and orphans of the slain and thought only of the suffering prisoners.

That is society's common revulsion of feeling when its lust for vengeance is satisfied.

The prison was reformed.

Thereafter the boy who had killed by accident and the sick man who had been driven to dishonor were given opportunity to prepare for an honorable future, and daily they thanked God for their bettered condition.

But the burglar who had killed a policeman and the gangster who had mangled ten innocents now made plans to escape and killed two guards before they were shot down.

Kindness will reclaim a dog made savage by abuse, but a wolf remains a wolf.

Society must learn to fit the punishment to the criminal.

To loosen the chains of a wild beast is to invite the destruction of its keeper.

GEORGE WASHINGTON FILM.

A made-in-Alexandria film is to be produced by the Washington Society of Alexandria, Va., portraying Washington "in successive scenes for * * * 50 years in his connection with Alexandria, his home town." The motion picture will take some six months for completion and its first section will be made available to civic organizations and schools throughout the country, says the Boston Transcript. Among the incidents to be presented are the scene at Gadsby's tavern, still standing in Alexandria, where Washington enlisted his first command for the Fort Meadows campaign; his first meeting with Gen. Braddock, in the old Carlyle House, and the birth-night ball of February 11, 1799, marking his last appearance socially among his friends and neighbors—a scene that will require the aid of a large portion of those Alexandrians who are "descended from the forbears who tripped the minuet before George and Mary Washington on that occasion."

The idea of this historic picture seems to be unique. Its local setting and cast provide an intensely, because an exclusively, local flavor to the patriotic memories which are identified with Washington's personality. How successful the production will prove outside the pale of Alexandria, of course, remains to be seen, but the idea itself is excellent and worthy of the sons of the South. Virginia proved to be the mother of early American statesmen, including several Presidents besides Washington, but had she given birth to but him, without whom the Revolution probably would have failed and America, as history has known it for a century and a half, would not have existed, her prestige would still be lasting. Much as we revere Washington as the "Father of His Country," in his earlier career we always picture him in our minds as a Virginian. And what is true of State sentiment is also true, at least in Virginians' eyes, of the still more local sentiment now about to blossom on the screen under the auspices of the Washington Society of Alexandria.

"NEW KIND OF HOSPITAL."

A hospital in which people of moderate means can have the best that medical science can offer and have it at a price within their power to pay—this is the dream of those who have set on foot the project for Gotham Hospital. It is a dream which must appeal to wealthy persons of humanitarian impulses as well as to those whose need has been its inspiration, says the New York Post. That the dream will be transformed into actuality is assured by the names of those who are presenting the project to their fellow citizens under the chairmanship of Mr. Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Co. Here is Mr. Sloan's picture of those whom the hospital is designed to serve: "They are the teachers, the preachers, artisans, social workers, artists, actors, clerks and followers of a dozen other professions and trades who do so much of the work of the world. They are self-respecting, hard-working citizens who expect to pay their way as they go, who ask no special privileges of fate and who go through life doing their work as well as they can without heroics or bids for sympathy." A project like this must win instant approval for its purpose and ready cooperation in making it a successful venture.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

European Debtor Nations About to Unload German Bonds on American Investors—Delay in Reaching Naval Agreement May Be Intentional.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Is there any possible relation between the naval conference and the desire of the nations, great and small, owing the United States real money on account of their war debts, to get the Young plan and the Bank for International Settlements working as soon as possible?

It will be recalled that President Coolidge, in his Armistice Day speech in 1928, bluntly served notice on the nations concerned that unless they showed some real intention to reduce armaments no more money would be forthcoming from private American investors to finance the Germans, thus permitting them to make their reparations payments. This, no doubt, was largely due to disappointment at the failure of the conference of 1927 in Geneva.

But President Coolidge clearly saw that the successful operation of the Dawes plan had depended almost entirely on the money lent by private American investors to industries, municipalities and states in Germany. The result was that what the German government had previously owed the allied nations, the German states, municipalities and industries now owed to private investors in America. The private American investors thus found themselves in a position which the American Government itself refused to be placed in when it declined to accept German securities in payment of war debts owed the United States by the allied nations.

It is interesting to speculate as to whether the present administration shares the former President's views in this respect.

With regard to the present conference in London, it is a safe bet that if the United States is to get anywhere near parity with any minimum British naval force which the present or any future British government will dare to propose, we shall have to build not only all the ships now authorized, but more besides. If the British suspend all warship construction it will take us about eight years to build the ships required to attain approximate equality. In that period a large part of the German reparations obligations presumably will have been "commercialized," which is a euphemistic term meaning to unload them on private investors, the larger part of whom, it is confidently expected, will be Americans.

The necessity for arriving at some kind of agreement in London which would give Americans some sense of security during the bond-unloading period is obvious.

It is a further safe bet that we shall not have attained approximate naval parity with the British when the unloading operations will have been neatly completed.

Also by that time it is hoped that the United States will be a full-fledged member of the world court.

Pressure From High Explosives the Same in All Directions—Get Wise, Police and Reporters.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: That the public may know that the police and reporters usually are wrong concerning the nature and effects of high explosives, let me say this:

When trinitrotoluol (TNT) was first manufactured in the United States about 30 years ago, experiments were made in a cement-walled room to determine the direction of the force exerted by various explosives. The room measured the same as to width, length, height. From midway of the ceiling a wire was suspended into midspace to which were attached small quantities of each kind of explosive, fired by an outside battery. Midway of each of the four walls and of the ceiling and of the floor was attached a pressure gauge.

Black powder, smokeless powder, nitroglycerin (dynamite), gun cotton, trinitrotoluol, tetranitromethylanalin, fulminate of mercury, ammonium nitrate, and other explosives were thereby tested. In each instance, the pressure gauges registered the same pressure from all sides and from top and from bottom.

Naturally, when an explosive is lying on or is near a hard surface and naught but air is above it, a hole will appear in the hard surface and not at all in the air, you know.

In the case of the Wall street explosion, where a tubing or piece of large pipe was used and loaded with dozens of steel ball bearings, and in the case of the New Year's Day bomb on the outskirts of Washington, the police and the reportorial theory that it must have been dynamite because "dynamite always explodes downward" was not based on even sketchy information as to what any explosive will register. An Island Paradise—No Noise, No Business, No Taxes, No Booze.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: All persons who are tired of the machine age can return to primitive life by visiting the Island of Niihau, in the Hawaiian group. This island, the population of which is 130 Hawaiians, does not have a wireless, radio, automobile, dog, jail, a store or even a postoffice. The owner of the island does not permit any liquor or smoking among the inhabitants, whose principal occupation is cattle raising.

What a relaxation life on this island would offer to the tired business people of the world! There would not be the incessant noise of street cars, automobile horns, neighbors' radios, automatic riveting machines and talkies. The only sound that would pierce the calm quietness would be the occasional mooing of cattle. There would be no frantic rushing to stores nor bills coming in at the end of the month, no taxation for the upkeep of the postoffice, jail and prohibition agents and, best of all, no worry about prohibition, as the owner of the island sees to it that there is no drinking and no smoking. The island must be paradise!

FLORIDA BOLT RULE BAR TO CANDIDATES

Attorney General Asserts Hoover Voters Can Not Run as Democrats.

MAY BALLOT, HOWEVER

Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—With campaigns for June primaries in the offing, Florida voters were informed today by Attorney General Fred H. Davis that literal application of State election laws would bar from participation as candidates in the Democratic primary all persons who voted for Herbert Hoover in the 1928 general election.

The opinion was expressed in the attorney general's answer to a letter from a resident of Hastings, Fla. The same rule applies, said Mr. Davis, if the candidate voted for Hoover and otherwise followed the regular list of Democratic nominees.

The law has no effect on voters, however, explained J. T. G. Crawford, national Democratic committeeman for Florida. Any Democrat who felt he could not support Al Smith in the general election may come back and vote the Democratic ticket at any time, he said.

The Attorney General pointed out that a candidate for office on the ticket of any party must take an oath that he or she did not vote for the nominee of any other party, national, State or county, at the last general election.

The law applies to the Republican party as well as to the Democratic. For the first time since reconstruction days, the Republican party will be ready this June to hold a primary. This is because the Republican party, with Mr. Hoover for President and William J. Howey for governor, polled more than 50 per cent of the votes in the last general election. The State law provides that any party polling such a vote may go to the primaries.

The attorney general did not express any opinion as to whether the oath will be upheld or applied in practice. He said he merely made reference to what the oath said and will leave its legal effect to be determined by the courts.

Arson Confession Bared In Fire Fatal to Seven

St. Louis, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Chief of Police Gerk today announced that Andrew B. Meadows, 53, night watchman at the old Hotel Buckingham annex, where seven lives were lost in a fire December 5, 1927, had confessed to police that he had been hired by his superiors to fire the building in a plot to collect fire insurance.

As a result of the statements, the watchman, a clerk and two men, prominent in real estate and financial circles are under arrest and Assistant Circuit Attorney Leanon announced the prisoners will be charged with first degree murder and arson. The watchman and clerk were to have been paid $5,000 each for their parts, but actually received $320 and $350, according to their statements.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

POLITICAL circles are inclined to attribute much of the present era of questionnaires, investigations and counter-investigations to the quite capable mind of Mr. Lawrence Richey, head of the White House investigating department, or as the Soviets call it, the "Gay Pay Oo."

Mr. Hoover made it quite plain when he went into the White House that he was to have his own investigating service. He did not intend to have any scandals break out in his administration. It was quite clear that he was determined to know all about every appointee for whom he was responsible or who might by any stretch of the imagination cause him embarrassment later.

* * * *

AND this is Mr. Richey's job. He is a born investigator. As a matter of fact, he entered the United States Secret Service at a very early age. William J. Burns described him as one of the best investigators he had ever known.

Because of his present position there is a serious question as to whether Richey is not one of the most influential men in the country today. Mr. Hoover has absolute confidence in him. And when Larry, as he is affectionately known, turns thumbs down on an applicant for a job, that applicant's goose is dead. You can lay to that.

There have been all sorts of stories written since Mr. Hoover came into office as to who was the most powerful man of his entourage. Some said it was James Frances Burke; some said Postmaster General Walter Brown, and still others thought Secretary Walter Newton, as head of the White House political department, occupied the best vantage point.

* * * *

LARRY is not concerned with patronage as such, and most likely has no desire to be a political boss. He is an investigator, an investigator of applicants for jobs, of the million and one things that he thinks the President should know.

But as to the relative standing of the respective departments at the White House, the investigating department has to make report on the output of the political department. That would seem to make it the last word.

There is, of course, all sorts of grumbling among senators because Richey has taken over much of their power. At least, he has tied the free hand they once had.

One of the most dignified and formal senators complains indignantly that he once went to Mr. Hoover to recommend a most laudable and capable citizen for a job, and when he had concluded, the President said: "All right, I'll have Richey investigate him."

EIELSON SEARCHERS DIG ICE AROUND WRECK OF PLANE

of the plane testified to the terrific impact with which the ship struck frozen earth.

Crosson reported that Eielson evidently was attempting to make a banked turn when he struck.

"His right wing cart-wheeled," Crosson said. "The fuselage broke in two just behind the baggage compartment and landed on its side. The engine shot out a distance of 100 feet. The right wing dropped off about 200 feet from the fuselage.

Time of Crash Fixed.

Crosson brought back the clock of the wrecked plane which had stopped at 3:40 p. m. Teller time (6:40 Pacific Coast time). This would fix the time of the crash at about dusk.

Moscow, U. S. S. R., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Doubt that the wrecked plane recently found off Siberia was that of Carl Ben Eielson was expressed tonight by S. S. Kameneff, chairman of the Soviet Arctic Commission. He believed the wreckage might have been that of an abandoned Soviet airplane named "Soviet North," known to be in that vicinity.

The Soviet North had crashed on a lagoon in Kaluchinsky Bay. The wreckage had been reported several times.

Kameneff, who is directing the various Russian relief expeditions in search of Eielson and his companion, Earl Borland, indicated that the Soviet efforts would be continued but in somewhat different form.

"We must wait further details before acting upon this report," he said. "At any rate, we must draw all land searching parties to the spot where the catastrophe is reported to have occurred. One dog sled expedition from Stavropol is already in that region."

Minneapolis, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—The probable death of Carl Ben Eielson, the flier, was viewed tonight by Vilhjamur Stefansson, Arctic explorer, as signaling the need of divorcing science from international politics.

Lack of weather reports, available in Russia and Siberia, but not available to Eielson because of broken relations between the United States and the Soviet governments forced Eielson and other Alaskan pilots to fly "blind," Stefanson said.

WILHELM OBSERVES HIS 71ST BIRTHDAY

Former Kaiser Celebrates Quietly at Doorn With Three Sons Present.

MANY FELICITATE HIM

Doorn, Holland, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Wilhelm II, former emperor of Germany, who has spent his birthdays in exile for eleven years, celebrated his seventy-first birthday in unusually quiet circumstances today. It was the simplest celebration since he took refuge in Holland after the collapse of the Hohenzollern dynasty.

Divine services in the morning, a formal dinner at noon and an educational movie in the evening offered the only outward evidence that Wilhelm thought of his birthday as a formal occasion.

Only three Hohenzollern princes were present, namely the former crown prince and crown princess, Prince Adalbert and his wife, and Prince August. The former kaiser's only daughter, Victoria Louise, who had intended to come, was prevented at the last hour by the illness of her children.

The mourning of the imperial family for the late Prince Henry of Prussia, brother and intimate adviser of Wilhelm, and for Frau Victoria Gubkoff, the former kaiser's sister, who married a Russian dancer, contributed to making the birthday observances informal and inconspicuous.

At the noon dinner the former crown prince, in the name of the guests, proposed his majesty's health in a formal toast, to which the former kaiser responded briefly. A vast floral display, accompanied by a letter of congratulations, expressed the respect of the Doorn community for their distinguished resident, but because of the mourning no delegation from the village council appeared as in former years to congratulate him personally.

Congratulations poured in, however, from many parts of Germany and from other countries.

Throughout the day Wilhelm seemed to be in excellent health and spirits.

Bond Is Set at $20,000 In Dry Agents' Slayings

West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—George W. Moore, alleged bootlegger, charged with the murder of two prohibition agents during an attempted raid on his home here January 11, waived preliminary hearing today and was bound over to the grand jury.

Bond was set at $10,000 in each case of two first-degree murder charges. Moore indicated he would make the bond.

FILIPINOS PROTEST WATSONVILLE RIOTS

Leading Educators, Labor Heads and Lawmakers Adopt Manifesto.

RENEW LIBERTY PLEA

Manila, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—A strong manifesto protesting the death of Fermin Tobera, Filipino, during the race riots at Watsonville, Calif., was adopted at a meeting tonight of leading educators, legislators and labor leaders.

The manifesto urged "a national discipline and personal sacrifice on the part of each and every Filipino at this time of national humiliation."

Services for Tobera were set for February 2 in the Manila public plaza. It was expected the entire city would turn out as a "peaceful protest." The manifesto was drafted by Dean Jorge Bococo of the College of Law of the University of the Philippines.

The manifesto concluded, "Let us all attempt to reiterate the desire for complete separation now that under the American flag we are not assured that we can enjoy the same rights and opportunities of American citizens. Let the demonstration also express our good will toward the American Nation as a whole, with the assurance that we will continue extending hospitality to American citizens in the Philippines."

There had been no attempts of threatened retaliatory outbreaks for the Watsonville riots.

TO THE person really interested in motor cars as fine as any that can be constructed, the display at the Automobile Show of fine coachwork on precision-built Lincoln chassis will repay a visit. This exhibit is of particular interest, for the cars on display embody three carefully tested chassis developments that materially increase Lincoln ease of operation and riding quality. These developments are in line with the Lincoln policy of having no yearly models; but of steadily developing the car in all its parts, and adding these developments whenever they are perfected.

THERE CAN BE NO STANDING STILL

WASHINGTON began the New Year with 159,000 telephones, or about 1 for every 3 persons. Our customers are served by a system which represents an expenditure for buildings, plant and equipment of more than $30,000,000, and each new year brings with it a requirement for more service involving further extensions and added expenditures. During 1930 we plan to spend more than $3,500,000 for additions and improvements.

The Company must be ready well in advance to provide telephone service to meet the requirements of the business and social life of the city. More and better service to the public are two of the primary objectives of telephone workers, and these make for progress in the business. There can be no standing still. This is evidenced by the fact that:

More than 201,000,000 local calls were handled—an average of 550,000 a day and a 6% increase over the previous year.

Nearly 5,700,000 out-of-town calls were handled—more than 15,600 a day, an increase of 11% over 1928. This large increase in business involved the installation of considerable additional telephone plant during the year.

28,500 telephones were put in service and 19,950 were taken out, making a net gain for the year of 8,550.

The new seven-story building at 730 Twelfth Street, Northwest, erected primarily to house the new downtown dial central offices, was completed in September at a cost, including land, of more than $1,000,000.

During 1930—

Dial service will be introduced about the middle of the year, in three downtown central offices—District, Metropolitan, and National. These offices will serve approximately 60,000 telephones—more than one-third of the total number in Washington.

It is estimated that 8,700 new telephones will be added to the system.

We also estimate that we will handle 214,000,000 local calls and 6,266,000 out-of-town calls—substantial increases over 1929.

To meet the expected increase in out-of-town calls 30 additional switchboard positions will be added at a cost of $136,000.

We believe that the continued growth of the business is definite evidence of the value of our service to the public.

Looking Ahead Five Years

We estimate that during the next five years it will be necessary to spend approximately $22,000,000 in the District of Columbia to meet the public's requirements for service. This is evidence of our faith in the future progress of the city.

The Company renews its pledge to provide the most telephone service and the best at the least possible cost to its patrons consistent with financial safety.

Artists' Ball Is Enjoyed by Vice President

Mr. Curtis and His Party Attend Brilliant Fete at Willard.

By JEAN ELIOT.

THE Arts Club's Bal Boheme! Color, motion, beauty, youth originality, high spirits—a true carnival! This time the club's annual frolic, given last night at the Willard, took the form of a "Ball of the Americas," with those pioneers of destiny, the makers of America, as the dramatis personae.

Members of Washington's sundry art groups had done their bit in preparation for this ball and turned out in full force to enjoy it, with diplomats, officials and hundreds of guests from smart society.

Vice President Curtis attended the ball, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Charles P. George, and by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann. Arriving in time to view the "Masque of the Adventurers," spectacular climax of a spectacular fete, they remained to watch the ever shifting kaleidoscopic groups of dancers—all in fancy dress—and to see the grand march in which practically the entire gay company took part.

Arriving at the ball, guests were set down in a bit of primeval forest—somewhat impressionistic — and made their way through a jungle scene to the ballroom. There one found the entire pageant of life in the Americas unrolled before one's eyes. The pueblos of New Mexico, the inimitable sky line of New York, with its topless towers; the Grand Canyon, an old-time Virginia mansion, the whoopee of Hollywood, Canada and its winter sports, Alaska and its totem poles, the Mayan jungle, Peru with its swinging "Bridge of San Luis Rey," painted "cut-outs," done in the impressionistic manner; these varied scenes were backed by deep blue sky and bound together in one symbolic panorama by a black wave crested with silver. Entering from the jungle, one worked one's way northward to the giant icebergs of the Arctic wastes, over which played the brilliant fingers of the Northern Lights.

In the small ballroom a more frivolous note was struck, with great modernistic lanterns of three shades of yellow and bright-colored balloons hung in giant festoons. The designs for the decorations were made by Mr. Hugo Inden and executed by a committee of artists, recruited from among the club members, under the chairmanship of Miss Anne Abbott.

Mrs. John Otto Johnson was chairman of the ball committee, with Mrs. Fulton Lewis and Dr. J. Ryan Devereux as vice chairman. In their box Col. and Mrs. Johnson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chandler Christy, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman and Mrs. Ephra Townley, of Paris. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and Dr. and Mrs. Devereux shared a box, having with them Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Berryman, Miss Anne Devereux and her guest, Miss Polly McElroy, of Rochester, N. Y.

Upon Mr. Christy, famous as a painter of beautiful women, Mrs. Christy and Mr. and Mrs. Tuckerman devolved the task of choosing the most beautiful, the most original and the most amusing costumes from all the gorgeous groups. As costume judges, the men wore the jurists' robes of the early days of the republic and the ladies were in colonial dress. Mrs. Johnson appeared appropriately as "The Americas," with the map of North and South America painted on her white gown. Mrs. Lewis wore an authentic Egyptian costume, picked up in Cairo last year, with a wig of pet black hair.

She had designed, with faithful attention to historic accuracy as well as an eye to the picturesque, Mr. Berryman's garb as Christopher Columbus—all scarlet and yellow velvet, with a cloak of ermine and the Order of Isabella to deck his breast. Mr. Berryman had the part of "The Genoese" in the pageant.

Famous for its impromptu bits, its dance numbers and its "supper surprise," the Arts Club ball always opens formally with the entrance of the floor committee—costumed this time as Colonial cavaliers in black and white, with sashes and feathers of scarlet—and has its climax in a masque—this year "The Adventurers."

Led by the Great Manitou, Spirit of the Western World (Mr. James Otis Porter), there came the Norseman (Frank Lovette), with three gorgeous Valkyries in helmets and coats of mail, lovely Mrs. Dunlop Penhallow among them; then the Genoese, with three Victories, their robes of white, their wings of gold and golden laurel leaves crowning their hair. They were Mrs. Ralph Graves, Mrs. Flora McGill Keefer and Miss Eleanor Parke Custis. Came Elizabethan England (Miss Anne Ives), in gorgeous array, squired by Sir Francis Drake and the Puritan. Came also Imperial Spain (Louise Rochon Hoover), with her attendants and a dashing group of Conquistadores.

Against these adventurers in a new world fought the Mayan Devil Dancers, played by a group of Carolyn McKinley's gifted pupils, as the Mayan God, the feathered serpent, gazed balefully down from his high-borne litter. Voyageurs of Canada, with Miss Anne Devereux as French Canada, hobnobbed with groups from south of the Rio Grande, sabelleros and senoritas, friars, guitar players and duennas.

Captains courageous, the Northwest mounted police had representation and one met the Madonna of the Trail (Maud Howell Smith) under escort of the scout (Mr. Will C. Barnes, president of the Arts Club). Col. John Otto Johnson, wearing an authentic chief's costume loaned by the National Museum, captained a band of Indians. "Mississippi Memories" were revived, with the gambler and the planter (Dennis Connell and Maurice Jarvis) taking part in a gay bit of pantomime, and Miss Allie Carroll Bowers, fresh from Alabama, showed how an old plantation dance should be stepped.

Another delightful feature of the masque was "Baile Argentina," arranged and danced by Miss Liza Gardiner and Mr. Paul Tchernikoff, with Mr. L. G. Van Hoorn, of the Netherlands Legation, among the gauchos in the "chorus."

With adventure seemingly a thing of the past, the heir to all this legion of adventurers, Flaming Youth (Orme Libby), donned the cloak of folly, releasing the frost maidens imprisoned in a huge ice block with his flaming torch. They danced together right merrily, with rosy lights playing over them. Was this modern youth's great adventure? But no, suddenly the lights were blacked out, a hum was heard and the ship of the skies appeared, winging its way to the icebergs of the frozen north. And doffing his cloak of folly Flaming Youth stood revealed as the winged man, the adventurer of the future. As the "ship of the skies," Miss Carolyn McKinley wore a silver robe, with wide silver wings which moved in rhythm with her movements. This tableau owed much of its beauty to the varicolored lights with which it was bathed under direction of Mr. Harold Snyder.

Coming down to earth the aviator and the "ship of the skies" led all the adventurers of the past in a great procession round the ballroom, the other guests gradually joining in for the grand march.

Previously there had been an amusing bull fight, featuring the belligerent bull, the terrible toreador, and the amiable announcer. And afterward there was supper, served downstairs from 12 o'clock until 2.

Many fascinating costumes were worn by guests not in the masque. Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor and Miss Mary B. Adams had both chosen colonial costumes and both in red and white. Mrs. Grosvenor's gown was of velvet, over a petticoat of satin, and she wore a red rose in her powdered hair. Miss Adams' overdress was of red

DEAREST GENEVIEVE:

The greatest fun in the world just now, is to go about the various shops and see the new spring things which have arrived. While most shops do not have at this time, any especially extensive collections of spring models, all have showings of some kind.

You will see trailing gowns of flowered chiffons, with hip-length coats of plain color taffeta or black transparent velvet. This is a vogue, sure to prove popular.

Innumerable other fascinating details will catch your attention as you browse around.

Charming Photographs in Red Chalk

—given an effect of richness and beauty not achieved in any other way. At Underwood & Underwood's you may see an exhibit of photographs done in this attractive finish. They have a delicacy and warmth contributing an especially, life-like portrait.

Grown people and children alike come out beautifully when photographed in this way. As to the cost, you must inquire for yourself about that at Underwood & Underwood's, because I have no idea how much they are. I only know they are the loveliest pictures I have ever seen and are so flattering, but at the same time are likenesses.

If you have already had sittings made at Underwood & Underwood's and have been delaying your decision on what type of prints to have made this would be a good suggestion for you. Have some pictures made up from your favorite poses in this enchanting red chalk style.

Paul's Inn Is Well Located

—at 1118 Connecticut avenue. That is across the street from the Mayflower Hotel, you know, and naturally is very popular with people stopping at the Mayflower who like an inexpensive place to lunch and dine. It is open from 11:30 a. m. to 8:30 at night. Dinner has restaurant service, but luncheon is usually cafeteria style. I say usually, which means every day but Sundays and holidays, when you have service.

Good, fresh vegetables, the best obtainable cuts of meats, toothsome salads and pastries are featured in the menus at Paul's 1118 Connecticut avenue.

New Spring Gowns at Herron's

—have arrived just in time to save you from that trying ennui which results from wearing the same winter frocks too persistently. This attractive second floor shop at 1735 Connecticut Avenue features inexpensive frocks with excellent styling and good workmanship.

Something for you to remember, too, is the fact that they make gowns and negligees right in their establishment. You will like the work they do, and the small prices they charge for it. They made such an adorable pajama set for someone I know.

We All Dined at Caroline's

—the other night to find that the food is simply superb! Such pastry you have never eaten. Mrs. Florence Stebbins Gleason, who is one of the women in charge of this unusual cafeteria at 734 15th street, as I told you, organized the cooking in the Hotel de Louvre during the war. This hotel served 1,500 officers a day, who came principally to eat the marvelous American pies, which they all craved. Mrs. Gleason had taught 30 French chefs how to do American cooking in the good old Virginia way.

Caroline's 734 15th street. Special luncheons, 40 and 55 cents. Dinners, 55 and 65 cents.

See at the Old Virginia Shop

—an old Georgian wing chair with cross stretchers, which is interesting as well as beautiful. It is on a Chippendale base, of course, and is an authentic antique.

Mr. Van Devanter is so clever at finding the handsomest old pieces, which are not obtainable elsewhere. In his delightful studio at 1711 Eye street he is exhibiting at this time a collection of antiques recently arrived from the other side. You may see an Empire column of Ormolu and bronze which would make a splendid base for an important lamp, for a club, for instance, or for a large home.

An early American corner cupboard is one of the things you will want to see, too.

Affectionately,

Bab

With Dr. and Mrs. Grosvenor were Dr. and Mrs. John C. Merriam and Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Coville—Dr. Coville brave in his "uniform" as commandant of the floor committee.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Farrington had with them Representative Luce, of Massachusetts, and Mrs. Farrington's sister, Miss Anne Scudder, of New York. Mrs. Farrington wore one of the fashionable beach suits—the trousers blue-green and orange, and the long, velvet coat of Venetian green—which are Palm Beach's heritage from the Lido. Dr. Farrington was impressive as Napoleon III and Miss Scudder was a handsome Martha Washington, her gown of blue satin trimmed in Duchess lace. Mrs. Will Barnes was another Lady Washington in gray velvet and brocaded satin. With Mr. and Mrs. Barnes in their box were Dr. and Mrs. Louis Ecker, Mrs. William Corse and Mrs. Charles Stratton.

Mrs. Beale R. Howard went as an Aztec priestess, sketches for her costume having been made from the Aztec Fountain at the Pan-American Union. Her daughter, Mrs. Francis Manning, was costumed as a Parrot. Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Manning entertained at supper before the ball at Mrs. Manning's house, the guests afterward occupying Mrs. Howard's box.

Mr. Alden Freeman, but recently back from Haiti, had worked out the discovery of "Hispaniola" in tableau form, his guests representing the dramatis personae and his box decorated to suggest the scene. The costumes were sketched from the painting by Vanderlyn, which hangs in the Capitol. Mr. Freeman himself was Columbus, Mr. William Stokes, of Baltimore, was King Coanabo, and Miss Toussaint Dubois appeared as Queen Anacoana. Miss Elizabeth Dubois was the wife of a Spanish governor of the island. A modern note was introduced in the group from the Haitian Guard. Other guests of Mr. Freeman, who had a dinner party before the ball, were Mrs. Richard Taylor Lansing, Mrs. Careau Turner Borden, Miss Katherine Taylor, M. Jules Lizaire, Mr. William King Olive, Mr. Nathaniel Cartmell and Lieut. Jackson Turner. Mr. Freeman will take this group with him to Miami Beach, Fla., to attend the costume ball to be given by the committee of 100 on February 14.

Mr. Caleb C. Magruder, member of the executive committee and of the advisory board of the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation, of Washington, will be host at the table of the Society of Colonial Wars, of which he is governor, at the Stratford dinner, February 4, at the Willard Hotel. Among his guests will be Mr. William Tyler Page, clerk of the House of Representatives.

In the afternoon there was a reception and in the evening members of the younger set were entertained, with dancing and a music program as features of the evening.

THE NEW GAUGE OF MOTOR OIL VALUE:

"Penetrative Lubricity"*

What it Is... What it Does

PENETRATIVE lubricity is the new gauge of motor oil value that is agitating the oil world. And this unique term can be applied to only one motor oil in North America: Conoco Germ-Processed!

Under test, this oil reduces motor friction to a greater degree than does any competitive oil . . . that's lubricity!

The microscope proves that this oil penetrates the very "pores" of the metal . . . and there deposits millions of tiny oil reservoirs . . . that's penetration!

What Penetrative Lubricity Means in Every-Day Driving

It is Penetrative Lubricity that gives Conoco Germ-Processed oils that motor-saving "carry-over" film that prevents your driving an oilless motor, no matter what the operating conditions. The most frequent abuse of automobile motors, all unintentional by their owners, comes during the first 5 to 15 minutes after starting. Engineers agree that 40% to 60% of all motor wear occurs then, due to this fact.

You will be glad to know that in those crucial moments, this "carry-over" of Germ-Processed oils . . . the reserve lubrication in those millions of tiny reservoirs . . . protects your motor adequately.

This "carry-over" feature of Germ-Processed oils, the result of Penetrative Lubricity, protects your motor from wear when driving at high speed . . . on long pulls . . . under all climatic conditions . . . and even if the supply of oil should become very low.

Moreover, the extra "oiliness," or lubricity of this new Conoco product by tests on friction testing machines shows a reduction of 15% in friction, hence you can realize what that means in increasing your gasoline mileage and reducing motor operating temperatures.

Only Conoco Oils are Germ-Processed

Conoco Germ-Processed Oils bring you the first fundamentally new lubricant of the century. The isolation of the Germ-Essence by Wells and Southcombe, was the long-needed step to make a mineral oil capable of withstanding the stress of modern motor design. As automobiles have changed since 1901, so have the demands for better oil. Germ-Processed oils supplied that demand, with the amazing characteristic:

Penetrative Lubricity.

CORD

FRONT DRIVE

THE marketing of a new kind of automobile, so fundamentally and exclusively different from all others as the new Cord, must pass through two stages:

First its introduction—second the experience of owners which definitely decides its fate.

The Cord was the hardest of any car ever built to introduce. We did not dare to express our opinions and beliefs. They would have sounded exaggerated. Although we had an opportunity that no builder has ever had to make strong claims and superlative statements—and all of them perfectly true—yet we chose to be ultra-conservative. We purposely undersold the Cord car.

Our plan was not to prejudice substantial people by taxing their credulity at the start. We were not in a hurry to stampede sales. There was no desire to "grand stand." We were confident that time and the car itself would reveal the truths we dared not shout in print.

Never has a new car in its price class attracted the crowds that attended the first showings of the new Cord at the stores of Auburn dealers. And there was no ballyhoo to bring them in. These crowds indicate much more than a tribute to the Cord car itself. They reflect a widespread interest and an earnest desire on the part of the public for new and improved means of transportation.

All of our dealers were instructed to curb their enthusiasm; to refrain from a natural eagerness to impress the public with the Cord's many exclusive features.

The Cord is now in the stage of its penetration of public approval where the influence of owner experience is making its weight felt. After all it makes little difference what the builder of any car says. The only verdict that counts is that of the owner.

From personal interviews and questionnaires we learn that thousands of owners of Cord cars are at a loss to find words adequate to express their enthusiasm, pleasure and satisfaction with the totally new kind of motoring comforts, ease and safety they are enjoying.

Owners tell us that—

The Cord DOES steer easier on the road than any other car,

It is MORE comfortable to ride in, especially under adverse road conditions,

It requires LESS driving effort,

It is SAFER on all roads and in all weather,

It does bring back the THRILL, long forgotten, of driving for the fun of driving.

They who also own other cars in the same price class drive their Cord cars almost exclusively.

Therefore as the Cord car advances to new owners it not only holds its gains but grows in favor the longer it is driven. Its success rests not upon high-pressure selling, not upon any artificial appeal, but upon a solid, permanent realization that the Cord DOES afford fundamental and exclusive advantages.

SIX AUBURN RIOTERS ON TRIAL FOR LIVES

Heaviest Guard Ever Seen at Prison Shows Way to Courtroom.

MURDER IS LAID TO ALL

Auburn, N. Y., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Handcuffed to alert guards, six Auburn convicts today went on trial here jointly on charges of first degree murder, in the killing of Henry Sullivan, another convict called the "Chief Devil" of the prison riot of December 11 last year.

Those standing trial are: Leo Lewis, Oneida County; William Force, Oneida County; Claude Udwine, Albert Cassidy and Frank Leagan, Erie County, and Jesse Thomas, Cortland County.

Proceedings to select a jury began promptly after Supreme Court Justice J. B. Cunningham, presiding, denied a motion for separate trials. William Nugent, farmer of Throop, was the first juror seated.

All Elaborately Guarded.

The prisoners were transferred from the penal institution to the courtroom under most elaborate safety precautions ever witnessed here. Twenty-four guards and State troopers accompanied them. When the convicts stepped from the prison entrance toward the three cars awaiting the party, wall guards with guns ready for any eventuality stood looking down.

Auburn city police stood guard along the route. At the courthouse Grider strict precautions were taken, every door being under surveillance by a guard.

The prisoners watched the initial work of jury selection with keen interest. The room was jammed. Many of the seats formerly reserved for spectators had been removed to make room for press tables.

One to Get Separate Trial.

Max Becker, Brooklyn gunman and bootlegger, indicted for the murder of Principal Keeper George A. Durnford during the December upheaval, will have a separate trial. He is seeking a change of venue, contending that it is impossible for him to receive a fair trial in Cayuga County.

The six who went on trial here today, Becker and the seven convicts called accounts for all those inmates who participated in the mutiny, prison officials said. With the opening of the battle over six lives, a tension was reported to have developed among the prisoners behind Auburn's walls. They will follow the proceedings through newspaper accounts, Warden John L. Hoffman having decided not to bar these.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

Otis Skinner in "Papa Juan." A comedy by Serafin and Joaquin Alvarez Quintero. Stage setting designed by James Whale.

THE CAST:

|---|---|
| Manuel | Thomas Donnelly |
| Carmen Campos | Georgia Harvey |
| Dona Marcela | Katherine Grey |
| Don Evaristo | Gerald Hamer |
| Papa Juan | Otis Skinner |
| Dona Filomena | Octavia Kenmore |
| Eulalia | Florence McGee |
| Trino | Hardie Albright |
| Currita | Mary Arbens |
| Rosa | Veronica Rey |
| Antonico | Robert Harrison |
| Alonso | Louis Lafey |

Delightful is the word that first comes to mind in any descriptive analysis of Otis Skinner's performance as the beloved old great-grandfather who is the central character in "Papa Juan" at the National—and yet there is more to this than mere delight.

Fifty years on the stage, Mr. Skinner the consummate artist, brings to bear all his mammoth powers of repression in a portrayal at once artistic and sound; so that those fortunate enough to see this vivid characterization may exclaim, if only inwardly, at the ease and grace with which the man performs his task. It is, as the saying goes, "the art that conceals art."

Certainly, in retrospect, there is not much to "Papa Juan" as a play; and yet, with Mr. Skinner parading through its script, it becomes the embodiment of all that is good and glorious in the theater—an evening filled with sentiment, with the soul of artistry, with the wisdom of the ages. Papa Juan is celebrating his birthday. In so doing he brings together all his immediate and remote family, even to the third and fourth generations, and in this wise he captures most of the forces of nature—love, avariciousness, hatred, jealousies and what-not; even poverty and riches—to sit at the same table.

It is Papa Juan's great ambition, approaching the century mark, to see another marriage among his kin, and this is easily arranged between two great-great-grandchildren, Trino and Currita. That courtship started on its way, the 100th birthday becomes the happiest of birthdays.

Well, it is all delightful in the working out of the simple little story unfolded by Serafin and Joaquin Quintero, the Spanish playwrights, the English version by Helen and Hartley Granville-Barker, no mere novices in the theater. The story is one of those easy, lumbering tales that starts gradually toward a crescendo and never breaks its neck getting to the end. It is like reading a novel of the olden, golden days—when knighthood was in flower, with the knights all behaving themselves and not off to the wars, with love rampant and romance in the air.

Two youthful Thespians, Miss Mary Arbents, playing the part of Currita, and Hardie Albright, as the young lover, lend goodly contrast to the age-old character presented by Mr. Skinner—a portrait, by the bye, fit for the gallery of a star, who has, in half a century, created many a masterpiece. A good supporting cast carries on in great style, so that Mr. Skinner is not too lonely.

POLI'S

ADD THEATERS.

The Jolson Theater Musical Comedy Company presents "Robin Hood." By Reginald De Koven. Book and lyrics by Harry B. Smith. Entire production staged by Milton Aborn. Orchestra conducted by Max Fichanler.

THE CAST:

|---|---|
| Robert of Huntington (afterwards Robin Hood) | Sudworth Frazier |
| Sheriff of Nottingham | William Danforth |
| Sir Guy Gisborne (his ward) | John Cherry |
| Little John | Greek Evans |
| Will Scarlet | Charles E. Galagher |
| Friar Tuck | William White |
| Allan-a-Dale | Lorna Doone Jackson |
| Lady Marian Fitzwalter (a ward of the crown, afterwards Maid Marion) | Olga Steck |
| Dame Durden (a widow) | Sara Camp |
| Annabel (her daughter) | Gladys Heyser |

Villagers, Milkmaids, Outlaws, King's Foresters, Archers, Pedlers, etc.

"Robin Hood," one of the most beautiful of all light operas of the past, was presented at Poli's last night by the same company that recently met with tremendous success at the Jolson Theater in New York, arousing a large audience to unusual enthusiasm, the climax of which came in the second act when Greek Evans literally stopped the show with his splendid singing of the famous "Brown October Ale" song. He was pressed to repeat it three times.

"Robin Hood" has enough tuneful songs and choruses to equip half a dozen modern musical shows.

William Danforth handles the humor of the opera and, as the Sheriff of Nottingham has a role well suited to his excellent talent. Lorna Doone Jackson, who has been heard here before, has the role of Alan. Last night her voice was at its best. Singing her famous "O Promise Me" aria after Greek Evans' sensational drinking song, she was still able to rouse the audience again to vociferous demands for an encore.

Probably the outstanding performance vocally was given by Olga Steck, in the role of Lady Marian, her rendition of the beautiful "Forest Song" proving a delight. Gladys Heyser, in the role of Annabel, was one of the hits of the performance. Coquettish, high-spirited and inspired, she set a lively pace for the others to follow and her beautiful and ringing voice dominated when she sang, "When a Maiden Weds," in the third act.

Sudworth Fraser, remembered here as the Prince in "The Student Prince," was effective vocally and in appearance in the role of Robin. Charles Galagher, as Will Scarlet, is a basso of great talent and the show was stopped again with his impressive "Armorer's Song."

"Robin Hood's" music is as fresh as the green of its painted forests. Sung lustily and played heartily by the competent company of enthusiasts, this great DeKoven work, seen all too seldom, is not to be missed by those who love sweet music and brave. Really a fine performance.

WITNESSES RELATE HOW GIRL WAS SLAIN

Texas Jurist Stabbed Her as She Fell, Is Claim at Murder Trial.

LAWYERS FIGHT IN COURT

Austin, Tex., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Witnesses for the State testified here today that they saw John W. Brady, 59, former State appellate court judge and prominent lawyer, on trial for murder, pull out a knife, threaten Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28-year-old stenographer, strike her and bend over her, still striking. One of them said he wrested a knife from Brady after the girl had been stabbed.

F. R. McNaughton said he took the knife. Another witness, Frank Graham, jr., testified he saw Brady strike the girl and bend over her, still striking. A third, King McFarlan, swore he saw Brady pull out a knife and threaten Miss Highsmith.

Mrs. R. B. Crider testified she saw Brady's arm movement as the girl sank to the ground, and heard the girl cry out, "Please don't do that."

Two of these witnesses, McNaughton and Mrs. Crider, lived at the rooming house where Miss Highsmith stayed. It was in front of this house that she was stabbed to death on the night of November 9, 1929.

McNaughton, stationery company employe, told of drinking with Brady on the afternoon of November 9, of attending a football game and going back to the rooming house. Here, he testified, Brady became loud and unruly.

Brady started quarreling with the girl, McNaughton told the jury. McNaughton went in to use the telephone twice, he testified, and while he held the receiver in his hand the second time he heard a scream. He dashed outside and found the former judge bending over Miss Highsmith, he added.

Who Makes Your Fire Insurance Rate?

Trained experts compute it; but property owners — individually and collectively — create the conditions which determine the cost of their fire insurance.

Several major factors enter into the determination of fire insurance rates, such as structure, occupancy, the quality of private and public fire protection, exposure from other property and general loss experience.

Surveys Available

The agent who writes your insurance—or your broker—or you, yourself—can obtain an itemized explanation of how your insurance rate is computed. There is nothing secret about it.

The Stock Fire Insurance companies solicit your interest, and offer free of charge the advice of rate-making bureaus to assist in eliminating hazards or correcting defects which may result in lowering your rate.

Seek Counsel

Do not attempt unsound fire prevention measures, but seek the counsel of the accredited experts of rating bureaus who are anxious to tell you the proper way to make improvements.

Insurance companies generally prefer risks eligible to a low rate to those which carry higher ones. A low rate indicates better conditions, better maintenance and less chance of fire.

While the National Board of Fire Underwriters has nothing to do with rates or rate-making, as a bureau of standards it does publish information which rate-makers use to measure the comparative strength and usefulness of materials and devices.

In the District of Columbia fire insurance rates are computed by the Underwriters' Association of the District of Columbia.

What Today Means to You

"AQUARIUS."

IF January 28 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 9:15 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. and from 8:30 p. m. to 9:40 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

There are a great many "dont's" indicated by the astrological signs for this date, which should be heeded. Do not go to law! Do not be prejudiced by circumstantial evidence. Do not take any unnecessary risks. Do not become engaged to marry.

The children born on this January 28 will be placid natured, slow in movement, stolid minded and will have more goodness than badness, and more sense than nonsense in their natures. They will never speed up their gait through life, but will jog along at a sane and steady pace.

You have a very equitable temper and an astounding amount of patience. You do not bemoan, fidget or curse when you are up against an inevitable disappointment or misfortune. You do not wail or enthuse with the same degree of intensity over mountainous or trifling things. Your emotional gauge is well balanced. You do not lose a pound of temper over an ounce of trouble. It can be said, however, that you can usually rise to the occasion, whether it be righteous war or a joy festival. You always have reserves upon which to call. You do not use up your physical, your mental or your emotional self in everyday life and occurrences.

To many your calmness is taken for coldness, but this is an unfairness to you. You have plenty of feeling affection and warmth, but your emotional fires are not kindled by everybody or everything. He or she who awakens your love will find a well of deep and sweet affection. All charms of your character are not displayed to the world at large; they are kept for those who are nearest and dearest to you.

It is not often that you allow hate to enter your system, but it is possible for you to become very bitter. You forget and forgive, time after time, but not for ever.

Successful people born January 28:

1—Daniel Willard, railroad president.

2—Charles Simon Barret, president National Farmers Union.

3—Gen. David S. Gordon.

4—James C. Watson, astronomer.

5—Amos Densmore, inventor.

6—Alexander Doyle, sculptor.

HOW TO CARE FOR SHOES.

(U. S. Bureau of Chemistry.)

The proper care of footwear, coupled with its intelligent selection, means a reduction of from one-quarter to one-half in shoe bills and at the same time keeps the feet neatly and serviceably shod. It is not necessary to discard shoes as soon as they begin to show signs of wear. After a seam has ripped or the outsole has worn through, shoes can often be repaired and worn for a long time.

Shoe trees help to keep shoes in their original shape. If they can not be had, the use of paper pads or stuffing is fairly satisfactory.

Mud, water or excessive dryness ruins leather; oil and grease preserve it. Therefore the life of boots and shoes may be extended by keeping them clean, pliable and water resistant. Those for heavy outdoor use need greasing. Those for street wear need polishing only, although the latter may be oiled and greased. Frequent polishing, especially with flexible wax polishes, keeps the leather soft and pliable and gives it a finish that helps to turn water and prevent the collection of dust and dirt. A light, even oiling, with a little castor oil on a cheesecloth pad once or twice a month helps to keep patent leather uppers from cracking. Shoes thus cared for wear much longer than those that are neglected.

WORK'S BRIDGE

HOME BRIDGE CONTEST.

TODAY we continue the Home Bridge Contest started yesterday. If you did not participate yesterday, you can get yesterday's paper and start at the beginning, or you can start today. The contest will be continued until the end of the week. Each day write your answers to the questions of that day; keep them, and next week when the correct answers are published note how many you have right. Make a home contest of it by getting your family and friends to write their answers; match the answers from your home against those prepared in your friend's home, and compare results next week.

The questions ask what the play should be in an actual game; do not permit your answer to be affected by knowledge which you would not have at the table concerning the location of any card.

CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER.

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

It's the draping and beading of orange tulle that makes this evening gown lovely. (Courtesy of Maison Jenny, Paris.)

Paris, Jan. 27.

OH, gor-r-r-rah! What shall I write about!

"Well, how about telling 'em how gor-licious you looked New Year's Eve?"

Oh, well, maybe it would interest you at that! And I'll tell you this—many an imminent dowager's lorgnette arm got sprained that night, if I must tell you as shouldn't. Why? Well, not that I was by any manner of means the youngest or even halfway the most attractive woman in the room, but because I had the good sense to "say it with velvet," and terrifically plain million-dollar elegance velvet at that.

In a ballroom full of lovely ladies with fortunes to spend on "Paris models actually purchased in Paris," and each gown trying to outdo itself in magnificence, it's a wise mamma who knows her own decolletage, as it were. And the soft black chiffon velvet gown, very low and square as to decolletage, front, shoulders and back, fairly form-fitting, and falling in marvelous drapes to the ankle all around, was certainly outstanding in a quietly lovely way.

Must tell you about the accessories tomorrow!

"Never is made an evening dress under seven to twelve yards!" says lovely little Mme. Ardanse, viewing with such a sad expression my four yards of beautiful white satin that I had had for such a long time.

And then I better understood how the "very-special-price-to-you-madame" always fluttered around 5,000 francs. (Figure it out for yourself, 25 francs to the dollar—a couple of exclamation points).

Worn with the jacket buttoned, it's a one-piece dress with an interesting collar arrangement—that's all. A one-piece dress with dainty lingerie touches, which are so smart these days. And then worn with the jacket unbuttoned, it becomes one of those so smart suit dresses that you see with a jacket of any size, from a short bolero to a three-quarter coat.

I am talking about the smart suit-dress I designed for you this week. You can have the illustrated leaflet by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post.

It looked so much better than it sketched, boo-hoo-hoo! It just makes you so mad—you see a perfect dream of a dress, and especially if it's tulle it always is a dream, and then you get the special favor of the right to sketch it exclusively from Mme. Jenny, and then you find that tulle can be reproduced in most anything except pen and ink.

Anyhow, it was orange tulle, delicately beaded all over the bodice—and it looked like, whether you believe it or not, the sunset over the Caribbean Sea when it is one solid sheet of soft orange sky.

Have you a little pelerine in your home? Really, my dear! If you haven't you just don't belong, that's all.

Sh-h-h-h-h, I'll tell you tomorrow what it is—if you're lucky and I remember to do it.

And I'll tell you lots of other interesting things in the weekly Dare fashion letter in next Sunday's Washington Post.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

THE present outlook is that the oversize screen and Grandeur Film will be introduced to patrons of the local Fox Theater the week of February 8.

A long-distance call from Dave Idzal, managing director of the Fox interests in Washington and Philadelphia, yesterday apprised the house management that "Happy Days" will be the attraction beginning February 8, and that in all probability it would be presented in its 70-mm. version, instead of the standard 35-mm. width of film now universally used for commercial exploitation.

Since "Happy Days" is one of the big pictures of the year—enlisting the entire Fox contract personnel—and the one that has been made throughout its length in the new double-width, third-dimension form, to introduce the new wide-angle photography and projection, it begins to look as if Mr. Idzal might, as usual, have his facts on straight.

Preceding the engagement of the Fox major musical opus by one week, will come "Sally," starring Marilyn Miller in her original role, to the Earle on Saturday next.

"Sally" is the screen musical comedy, executed in Technicolor, that has been extravagantly lauded as the most perfect entertainment of its kind ever recorded by the cameras and microphones. Judging from the brief glimpses afforded by the gorgeous film trailer heralding its manifold virtues, I am prepared to believe that the anticipatory encomiums could not have told quite the half of it.

Incidentally, in the presentation of "Sally" at the Earle, I seem to detect a slight modification of Johnny Payette's usual booking policy. By all previous practice, "Sally" should play the Metropolitan as a run picture. Its presentation at the Earle, where the capacity is 1,000 or so larger, should add greatly to the prestige of the Thirteenth street house.

It comes to me with convincing directness that Radio Pictures—otherwise RKO, the nickname of Radio-Keith-Orpheum—is angling for the services of Alexander Callam, master of ceremonies at the Fox, to appear in a featured role in a new singing picture. So far, Mr. Callam has turned thumbs down, what with his Fox contract and one thing and another.

They tell me, too, that two actors are playing the same role in "The Phantom of the Opera," at the Rialto. So far it has not been my privilege to view the revamped version of this Universal special, but a few who have report that in several of the new touched sequences of the original production, John Sainpolis appears while in the newly articulated, re-issued portion the same character impersonated by Edward Martindel. Oh, well.

Just rambling 'round:

The solo artists who are lending distinction to the "Herbert-Fulton" overture under Leon Brusiloff's baton at the Fox are Henri Sokolove, violinist; Ralph K. Catron, trumpeter recently secured from the Navy Band; Alden Finckel, cellist; Alexander Callam, baritone, and Rosa Delphey, xylophonist, whose [illegible] name, obviously, should be Phil . . . When I told Mrs. Lee Rome that that couldn't be Monte Blue at Le Paradis Saturday night, it was no more than two minutes until the fellow slapped me on the back and turned out to be Monte Blue. Thirty pounds heavier than I ever saw him, looking like a million dollars, returning to New York Sunday night to begin personally directing the picturization of Katherine Brush's story of "Young Man of Manhattan," with which he is [illegible] smitten, yesterday . . . "The Phantom of the Opera" is doing matinee business that is running ahead of "Show Boat" at the Rialto . . . The newsreels are swell again this week, featuring such small-time fellers as John D. Rockefeller, who gets off markably playful for one of his years; Al Smith, James M. Cox, Babe Ruth, Cardinal Hayes, the Italian royal newlyweds and King George's voice . . . Chas Chase has changed his act quite a bit, except the closing part . . . All for the silliest. The weather man didn't find out that Saturday was inauguration day at the National Press Club in time, so he sent the inauguration weather yesterday!

HOUSE GETS NEW AMATEUR BOXING BILL FOR D. C.

Western Five Risks Lead Today

Eastern Will Oppose Pace Setters in Second Fray.

Coach Shifts Centers for Central Clash With Business.

To maintain its position at the top of the league, which it gained without lifting a hand last Friday, will be the aim of the Western High basket ball team this afternoon when it faces Eastern in the nightcap of the regular Tuesday twin bill of the high school series at the Tech High Gymnasium. Central and Business, who staged a real thriller in their first meeting two weeks ago, will clash in the opener at 3:15 p. m.

In an effort to break a two-game losing streak, Coach Bert Coggins, of Central, is expected to send George Brandt, captain of the 1929 football team, to center in place of Downey Rice, who hitherto has been the regular tap-off man for the Blue and White. Starting the season Rice exhibited high-class form, sharing with Wilbur Cross the burden of the Central attack. However, in the last three games, Rice's work has slumped considerably, but four field goals having been marked up to the pivot man's credit during that time.

On the other hand, Brandt has looked quite a bit of class during the short time that he has played this year, and last Saturday against the Navy Plebes, exhibited his best form of the season, while holding two Navy centers to a single field goal.

Leading the procession with three wins in four starts, the Western aggregation was eased into first place last Friday when Central was upset by Eastern, which gave the Mount Pleasant courtmen their second setback of league competition. Today,

Rene Lacoste Will Return To Net Wars, Says Tilden

French Ace Recovered, Awaits Cup Play, Says Tilden.

"Big Bill" Annoyed to Find Name on U. S. Squad.

By TED VOSBURGH.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Rene Lacoste, the most machine-like of the great French tennis stars, is entirely cured of the illness that kept him out of the Davis Cup challenge round last year and is planning another international campaign this season, reports no less an authority than Big Bill Tilden.

The American champion, now playing in the tournaments along the Riviera, writes in the current issue of American Lawn Tennis that far from retiring from the game, Lacoste expects to play in the French and English championships again and to take his old place on the tricolor Davis Cup team.

This is the most reassuring news of Lacoste received since last summer when a stubborn cold bordering on influenza prevented him from playing at Wimbledon and then kept him out of the Franco-American battle for the Davis Cup. Complications followed. Lacoste spent some time in a sanitarium and many felt that his court career had come to an untimely end.

RENE LACOSTE.

Lacoste and Cochet To Lead French.

Tilden said Alain Gerbault, veteran tennis player and lone ocean navigator, the English tennis expert, a Wallis Myers, were the the sources of his information that Lacoste is now himself again.

With Lacoste and Cochet once more heading the French defense forces, the task ahead of the United States and other challenging nations becomes increasingly difficult, Big Bill points out.

Incidentally, Tilden announced himself "annoyed" that his name was included on the list of "Davis Cup Squad" members issued some weeks ago and repeated emphatically that he will not be available for the United States Team.

Tilden says further that the French are working to bolster their team in doubles.

Americans Were Best In Doubles.

It was in the doubles last year that the Americans made their most impressive showing against the defenders, Johnny Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison defeating Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra in straight sets.

The latter combination, Tilden indicates, now has been shelved, and these three teams are being primed: Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, Borotra and Lacoste, and the youngsters, Christian Boussus and Rene Debuzelet.

Of the youthful Boussus-Debuzelet alliance, Tilden says, "They look to me like a pair who are due to pretty near rank the others this year."

Tilden's prize protege, Wilbur F. Coen, jr., of Kansas City, will join Big Bill on the Riviera soon, being booked to sail on the Bremen February 1.

Coen probably will be Tilden's regular doubles partner, as Frank Hunter expects to confine his European playing this year to Wimbledon if he goes abroad at all.

Thinks He Has Outgrown "Junior."

The Kansas City youngster, who now is 18 and thinks he has outgrown his boy name of "Junior," will not be available for American zone Davis Cup play, but may be called upon to join the team in Europe if 1930 turns out to be the year for him to realize the roseate prophecies Tilden has made concerning him.

Jean Borotra, the bounding Basque, bustled over here on a business trip last winter to win the national indoor championship, but can not make it this year. Frank Hunter, who gave him a great battle in the final, is favored to win the 1930 event, which starts February 1, earlier than usual, at the spacious Seventh Regiment Armory here.

Four Italian Boxers Arrive at New York

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Four Italian amateur boxers with their manager, Mario Delfante, landed here today to compete with Americans and a similar team of Germans at Boston February 3, New York February 10 and Grand Rapids, Mich., February 17.

The invading scrappers, champions of Italy, in their respective classes, are Amilcare da Horatis, lightweight; Werther Arcelli, welterweight; Oddone Piazza, middleweight, and Severino Drugiotti, heavyweight.

Wieman May Coach Minnesota Football

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Elton E. (Tad) Wieman, former head football coach at the University of Michigan and now teaching in the school of education athletics department, will go to Minneapolis Wednesday to confer with athletic officials of the University of Minnesota regarding the coaching position made vacant by the resignation of Dr. Clarence Spears.

Wieman talked with President Lotus D. Coffman, of Minnesota, at Chicago yesterday.

West and Pyle Sign Contracts With Nats

Signed contracts of two more Nationals were received by President Clark Griffith, of the Washington Club, yesterday. The morning mail brought the glad news that Outfielder Sam West would be on the job fighting for his berth, while later in the day the papers, properly signed, were received from Pitcher Herbert Pyle, who was won in the baseball lottery last fall. Pyle performed last season with Joe Engel's Chattanooga Team and is given a slight chance of making good here.

Pro Golf Army Moves Into Texas for Open

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Professional golf's nomad army occupied San Antonio today for the ninth annual battle for $7,500 over the Brackenridge Park Municipal Course. A wet course and fog greeted those who sought to practice.

The Texas open proper will be played Friday, Saturday and Sunday, eighteen holes on each of the first days and 36 on the final. First prize is $1,500.

An amateur qualifying tournament in which all Simon-pures who have handicaps over four, must compete if they except to enjoy the amateur-pro best ball event of eighteen holes at the park on Thursday, is scheduled at the Willow Springs course Wednesday.

Horton Smith and Al Espinosa and other heavy winners in winter golf events will play in the Texas open.

Pierre Charles Unhurt In Automobile Mishap

Philadelphia, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Pierre Charles, of Belgium, European heavyweight champion, escaped unharmed from an automobile wreck on the Baltimore Pike near Oxford, Pa., last night, it was learned today.

The Belgian, his manager, Gus Wilson; Moise Bouquillen, heavyweight boxer, of France, and Eddie Huckins, a former jockey, were motoring to Florida for Charles' bout with Tommy Loughran at Miami February 27, when their car struck another automobile. The fighter's car turned over and was wrecked. The only one injured was Wilson who received cuts on his right wrist and arm.

The party returned to this city and all but Huckins will leave tonight by train for the South. Huckins will take the car South when it is repaired.

Sharkey Asks Loughran Be Camp Aid

Style of Former Light Heavy Champ Likened to Phil Scott's.

Training Camps of Miami Fighters to Be Scattered.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Johnny Buckley, manager for Sailor Jack Sharkey, reached deep down into the bag of ballyhoo today and drew forth an invitation for Tommy Loughran to help train Sharkey for his heavyweight elimination bout with Phil Scott in the second "battles of the palms" here February 27.

Mr. Buckley asserted that his plan was no idle jest. Instead, he proclaimed the former light-heavyweight champion, booked as a semifinalist with Pierre Charles, of Belgium, in Madison Square Garden's winter spectacle here, was just the man to limber the Boston fighter up to Scott's style of delivery.

"Jack wants Tommy to help him, as the only American contender in the heavyweight title ranks, Buckley explained. "I called Joe Smith, Tommy's manager, last night and put the proposal to him, but he wanted a chance to talk it over with Loughran."

Sharkey Is Eager to Enlist Loughran.

The Boston sailor's manager belittled the suggestion that his request might have been made in connection with a similar proposal made to Max Schmeling Saturday night by Jimmy Johnston, Scott's manager.

"Jack is persistent about it," he continued. "He believes that Loughran can put him in better shape than any sparring partners can do."

If Buckley's plan is accepted by Loughran and his manager as outlined, Tommy would box two to three rounds a day in the Sharkey camp, although the two would maintain separate camps.

Frank Bruen, general manager for Madison Square Garden's second winter campaign in the Miami area, said he was agreeable to the proposal Bruan had planned to scatter training camps generally through the Miami section as the winter show gets under way, however, and consolidation of the Sharkey and Loughran camps would bring alteration of the schedule.

Bruen Would Scatter Training Camps.

Bruen's idea has been that Sharkey would train in Miami Beach, Scott in Miami and Palm Beach, Loughran or Charles in Coral Gables, and other members of the fistic circus in camps about the area.

Bruen said he had received word that Gus Wilson is on his way here with Pierre Charles and Mose Bouquillon, French heavyweight, whom Wilson seeks to place on the February 27 card against Johnny Grosso, one of Sharkey's sparring partners.

Phil Scott to Entrain For Miami Camp Today

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Phil Scott, British heavyweight who meets Jack Sharkey at Miami, Fla., February 27, will leave for the Southland tomorrow to start training. He will be accompanied by his English manager, Charlie Rose, and a trainer, Eddie Johnston, brother of Jimmy Johnston, his American manager.

Hooman and Mrs. Gavin, Golf Stars, Are Married

London, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—V. L. Hooman, prominent British amateur golfer, and Mrs. W. A. Gavin, Canadian women's golf champion in 1922 and runner-up in the American women's championship in 1915, 1919 and 1922, were married during the week-end.

Mr. Hooman was a member of the British Walker Cup Teams playing against the United States in 1923 and 1923, and played for Oxford University against Cambridge four years in succession. He is 42 years old.

Mrs. Gavin won the Belgian title in 1924 and represented England on international matches in 1910, 1911 and 1924. She is 43 years old.

Betty Carstairs Orders New Superspeedboat

London, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Miss Betty Carstairs, completing arrangements to challenge the motor boat speed kings of the world in the Harmsworth Trophy race at Detroit this summer, has ordered a superspeed boat and obtained permission from the air ministry to use two of the secret sero engines built for the Schneider Cup contest.

These engines will develop more then 2,500 horsepower, and speeds well over 100 miles an hour are expected. It is planned to test the boat on Lake Widnermere before shipping it to America.

Walker and New York Body to Make Peace

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—The New York State Athletic Commission is scheduled to consider tomorrow the case of Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, with the chances great that the 160-pound king will make peace with the solons and defend his crown against Rene de Vos, Belgian challenger, in Madison Square Garden, March 14.

Walker, suspended here three years ago for failure to defend his title in the specified time limit, aggravated his offenses by failing to appear before the commission when summoned. He has not fought in New York State since winning the middleweight crown from the late Tiger Flowers at Chicago in 1926. Walker's title was declared vacant last year by the National Boxing Association for inactivity, despite his defense of it against Ace Hudkins in Los Angeles last October.

One of the terms of reconciliation is that Walker shall meet De Vos here on a charity card. A recent ruling of the commission will permit Walker to box once overweight, provided that he signs for a title match.

A.A.U. Backs Legalization Of Bouts

Rep. Hartley Submits Bill Asking Boxing Commission.

Prevention of Professional Bouts Also Part of Measure.

AMATEUR boxing supervised by a commission to be appointed by the District Comissioners, is provided for the District of Columbia in a bill introduced in the House of Representatives yesterday by Representative Fred H. Hartley, jr., (Republican), of New Jersey.

The bill, which is backed by the District of Columbia Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, is also designed to prevent professional prize fighting in the Capital and restrict amateur bouts to responsible organizations and preclude promotion of the bouts for "personal gain."

Representative Hartley's bill is virtually a duplicate of the Watson-Updike bill of 1929 which was passed unanimously by the Senate and failed by only one vote in a unanimous consent ballot to gain a place on the House calendar on the last day of Congress last March.

Price Value, Admission Fee Limited.

Salient features of the bill provide that contestants in amateur bouts shall receive nothing in money or value except a suitably inscribed diploma, banner, badge, medal or timepiece not exceeding the value of $35 or that an admission fee of more than $2 be directly or indirectly charged. Under the bill the District Commissioners would appoint a boxing commission of three to serve without pay and to supervise and regulate the sport. Bouts would be limited to four rounds of two minutes each.

The Watson-Updike bill last year received the whole-hearted support of virtually every amateur club and college in the District of Columbia. Not a protesting voice was heard at the hearing before the Senate subcommittee which unanimously approved the bill. One of the strongest proponents of the measure was Deets Picket, executive secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals and a strong foe of professional boxing.

Indorsement of the bill introduced by Representative Hartley was unanimously voted by the board of managers of the District A. A. U. last week. Edward Rosenblum, chairman of the A. A. U. boxing committee, conferred with Representative Hartley with a view to eradicating objectionable features of a bill that might leave a loop hole for professional bouts.

Representative Hartley Heads Athletic Club.

Representative Hartley is the youngest member of Congress, representing Hudson County. He is prominent in New Jersey athletic circles and is the head of the Hartley Athletic Club. He is holder of the handball championship of Hudson County.

The present law concerning boxing bouts is a part of the District of Columbia penal code, which was designed to eliminate professional prize fights, but made no distinction in the matter of amateur bouts. Under the law, prizes of any description are illegal, no admission, however nominal, can be charged, and no decision as to the winner can be rendered. Proponents of the Hartley bill point out that under strict interpretation of the present law, presentation of a mere letter or sweater by a District of Columbia college to a member of the varsity boxing team would be illegal.

Plans to introduce a bill to provide for professional boxing in the District are being formulated.

A bill that would provide for professional boxing in the Capital, modeled after the Walker law, of New York, is being drafted by Representative Loring Black, of New York. The Black bill also would provide for a commission to govern the sport here.

Ruth Demanding a Ratio of $552 Per Game, Or $4.50 Per Minute, If Stipend Is $85,000

Bambino Asking $276 Per Playing Hour, Approximately.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

IF George Herman (Babe) Ruth forces the New York Yankees to accede to his salary demands of $85,000 for each of the next three seasons, he will be paid at the approximate rate of $552 per game, $276 per playing hour, or about $4.50 per minute, basing the average length of a game at 2 hours. While, as Coach Al Schacht, of the Nats, is wont to say: "That's a lot of nickles," the Babe has a truly great record at which to point.

Just how great is this record probably never would have been known had not A. H. Bentrup, of the New York Herald-Tribune staff, kept track of every move of the "Bambino" since he entered the major leagues as a southpaw pitcher. He has served fifteen seasons under the big tent, five as pitcher and pinch-hitter for the Boston Red Sox and ten as master mauler of the Yankees. In those 15 campaigns he has hit a total of 516 homers, averaging more than 34 per year, while he has averaged close to 47 per annum since joining the Yankees.

Mr. Bentrups figures show that Ruth has hit home runs in every park in the American League; that he has hit them during every month of the season, against every club in the league and off the delivery of practically every pitcher who has faced him over the course of a campaign.

According to the figures—and they say figures never lie—the Babe is not just a slugger of the hit-or-miss type, but has been getting his blows regularly. His all-time stick mark for the fifteen regular seasons of his career is .347, showing him batting less than .300 in only two campaigns, 1916 and 1925, while in his nine world's series he has compiled a .325 average.

Ruth has fractured the American League home-run record exactly four times. He first cracked the ancient figure with 29, in 1919, his last season with the Red Sox. Going to the Yankees the following year, he hit 54, boosting the mark to 59 in 1921. This record stood until 1927, when he stretched it to 60.

Naturally, the Babe has made most of his circuit clouts in the Yankee Stadium, constructed for his personal benefit, where he has had 77 games a season in which to swing his "Big Bertha" into action. He has cracked out 48 in Detroit, 47 in Philadelphia and 46 in Boston, Washington has been his hardest home-run field, as he has knocked but 25 in the Griffith Stadium.

63 Homers Yielded By Nats Pitchers.

Partially because it is more difficult to get four-baggers in the Nats' park, Washington pitchers, along with those of Cleveland and Boston, have held the demon slugger to the smallest number of circuit drives of any of the other teams, 63. Detroit flingers have suffered most in this respect, having had their offerings nicked for 95, with St. Louis next.

While Ruth has hit right-handers and southpaws alike upon occasions, Mr. Bentrup's figures show that 350 of his blows were made against orthodox flingers, while those of port-side persuason have granted 166 round-trippers.

Here is the list of Washington pitchers who have suffered on the Babe's account:

Cantillon's Condition Remains Very Grave

Hickman, Ky., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Doctors reported little change in the condition of Joe Cantillon tonight, but marveled at the hidden strength with which he has held off the fatal effects of the stroke which laid him low.

Just once since the turn for the worse Sunday has he regained consciousness and then holding himself straight up in bed he tried to tell a story about Rube Waddell, but his paralyzed throat refused to shape the words and he lapsed again into a coma.

Messages were received today from the only three men in baseball today who started when Joe did, Connie Mack, Charles Comisky and Wilbur Robinson.

Illinois Takes $10,000 Forfeit Fight to Court

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—The Illinois State Athletic Commission will wage a legal battle to force manager Jack Kearns and Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, to pay a $10,000 forfeit to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children at Los Angeles.

Before agreeing to allow Walker to meet Tommy Loughran for the light heavyweight championship here last year the Illinois Commission forced kearns to post a $10,000 forfeit with the California Commission, guaranteeing that Walker would defend his title at Los Angeles, preferably against Ace Hudkins. Walker failed to meet Hudkins within the time limit, and the Illinois Commission ordered the California body to pay the $10,000 to the Shriners' Hospital. Manager Kearns stopped the order by gaining a temporary injunction.

First Assistant Attorney General William E. Trautman of Illinois is on his way to Los Angeles to represent the State commission, seeking payment of the forfeit money.

Mickey Walker Denies Allegations of Wife

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Allegation of his wife that he drank excessively, entertained other women and had an ill-governed temper were today denied by Edward Patrick "Mickey" Walker, middleweight boxing champion, in answering the divorce action instituted by Mrs. Margaret Walker, of Rumson.

In her suit Mrs. Walker sought custody of a son on the grounds that her husband was unfit to care for him. Walker denied this.

The Walkers were married in January, 1928, and separated last July when Mrs. Walker went to the home of her parents in Brooklyn. She is now in California, her petition stated.

Mrs. Walker has asked permission from the court to take her maiden name, Margaret Kelly.

Yanks Send Gazella To Hollywood Team

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees today announced the outright release of Mike Gazella, former utility infielder, to the Hollywood Club of the Pacific Coast League. Gazella recently was reinstated from the voluntary retired list after a year's absence from baseball activity.

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—The New York Athletic Club announced today that George Simpson, of Ohio State University, the only sprinter on record to run 100 yards in 9 2-5 seconds, will compete in the N. Y. A. C. games at Madison Square Garden, February 17.

MARINE COURTMEN TO MAKE THIRD BID FOR TITLE

Quantico Five Enters Post Tourney

Stewarts Seek Crown in 145-Lb. Class of A. A. U. Event.

Entries Close Friday Night at Office of The Post.

THE Quantico Marine Quintet will again seek the unlimited championship of the District A. A. U. in the fourth annual tournament to be held, starting March 10, under the auspices of The Washington Post. The announcement came from Quantico last night to the effect that the Devil Dog courtmen this year will make their third bid for the title.

The Marines have been contenders the last two years. In both of these tournaments they have loomed as probable champions, but on each occasion they fell a victim of the vagaries of the elimination system, which has made the local tourneys a popular success.

There are no favorites in reality in local A. A. U. tournaments. More often than not, some outsider has romped through a hard schedule to claim the laurels apparently reserved for some crack combination that has shown class during the season.

Stewart Brothers Team Is Registered.

Sam Stewart, of the Stewart Bros. Photographers Five, which has been running rough shod over both unlimited and 145-pound teams since early season, last night registered his team composed of Dave Keppel, Louie Richardson, Morris Denniberg, Sammy Mindel, Joe Curtin, Shorty Harris, Burke Mealy, Joe Gahan, Cody Shapiro and Doc Kessler.

This club has shown championship caliber to date, but faces a real test. Not only the championship St. Peter's 145-pounders but more than a score of other teams will contend for that class title. The Stewarts have won 26 of 30 games and are seeking a game for Wednesday night. The Stewarts have a gym. Call the manager at Columbia 9333 after 6 p. m.

Registration of players for the 145-pound and unlimited classes will continue until midnight of Friday. No applications will be received after that hour, the officials have definitely announced. There will absolutely be no extension of this period, William M. Russell, chairman of the registration committee, declared last night.

Registration Office Moved to Post.

In order to handle the flood of last-minute registrations expected Friday night, Mr. Russell and other members of the registration committee will be in the sports department of The Post to receive the applications. Although several teams are registering daily and many will be received before Friday, the majority are expected to be filed on the final day.

Registration application blanks may be obtained from Mr. Russell at 1803 North Capitol street or in the sports department of The Post.

CAPITAL VS. EPIPHANY.

Capital A. C. and Epiphany Sextets will play tonight in the Epiphany Church Gymnasium, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Capital A. C. will hold a card party Friday night at the home of Miss Ross, apartment 51, 1723 G street northwest.

WESTERN TO FACE EASTERN IN SERIES

Western will be facing that same team, hoping to avert the misfortune which befell Central. Although Western trimmed Eastern, 36-32, in their former meeting, so had Central whipped the Lincoln Parkers, only to be returned the lover in the return match.

Dope Indicates a Red Hot Battle Today.

As it is, that 4-point win of Western in the first game is a margin to be looked on with no great favor by Red and White followers, especially in view of the continuous string of upsets which has marked the series play so far.

If performances of the individual members of both teams made the last time out are even approached today fans should see a free-scoring game with both teams taking an equal part in the point making. In helping to hand Central its first defeat of the series, Capt. Jimmy Thompson of Western set a scoring record for the set with 21 points, and Bob Freeman registered five field goals, while four Eastern players had a decided part in their team's 36-32 rout of Central. Capt. Ryan and Kane each scored three baskets from scrimmage, while Robey and Spirley scored five and four double-deckers, respectively. If these players duplicate today, a high score for the series may be attained.

Although undoubtedly the feature attraction of the day, the Western-Eastern game may again prove anticlimatic, if Business and Central repeat their hair-raising fray of the opening round. The gun which ended that hectic 24-22 battle found about everyone in the stands just a jumble of high-strung nerves.

Nothing at Stake for Stenogs Against Central.

However, at that time both teams were full of championship hopes and the game was fought with those ideas in mind. Now that Business is apparently out of the race, and Central has taken two straight games on the nose, no more than the latter's attempt to get back into the win column, and incidentally, the running, will be at stake.

WANTS 100-POUND FOES.

The Temple Five, of Alexandria, Va., has the use of a gymnasium, and is seeking 100-pound foes in the District. Games can be arranged by calling Manager Embrey, at Alexandria 713-J.

A. A. U. TEAMS SHOWING FORM

Guards Win, 19-18, From National Circle Five.

WHETHER or not the brand of basket ball to be played in the proposed District professional league will come up to the A. A. U. standard remains to be seen. In the last two days, teams that have been mentioned as possible entries in the independent league have been defeated by clubs which will compete in the A. A. U. tournament.

Last Sunday, the French's Five, with its long winning streak, bucked up against the Phoenix A. C. Quintet and came out with a defeat. Last night the National Circles took a surprise setback at the hands of the Company C Team of the 121st Engineers. The National Guards invaded the home court of the Circles and left with a 19-18 victory.

The game was a thriller throughout with the Guards gaining an 11-7 lead at the half. In the second half, the Circles moved up to tie the score at 14-14, but the Guards came back to sew up the game. Collins led the scorers for the winners.

The Fort Washington Quintet, which will again compete in the A. A. U. Tournament, proved an easy winner over the R. E. Knight Store Five, of Alexandria, last night. The Knights, who are being counted on as one of the strong teams in the pro league, was outclassed to the tune of 68-23 score.

Marsh, popular A. A. U. player, came through with fourteen baskets to run up 30 points. Lott piled up seven baskets.

Soccer Body Meeting Is Postponed a Week

The meeting of the Washington and Southeastern District Soccer Association scheduled for tonight has been postponed until next Tuesday by President John MacBeth. The absence from town of several of the members of the association caused the postponement.

Once again next Sunday, the association will attempt to play its remaining games in the first round of its cup tourney. Reckville and Gaelic America are scheduled to play on the Monument Grounds and British United and Gaithersburg will meet on the Silver Spring pitch.

Abbatticchio, of Hawks, Wants Name Changed

Edward Augustine Abbatticchio, native of Latrobe, Pa., and a last-year student at Georgetown University, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to change his name to Edward A. Abbey. The petitioner tells the court that he is a well-known athlete and that he is familiarly known under the name of Abbey. He states that he desires to have his diploma bear the name under which he is best known in the District. He is 25 years old.

Abbatticchio, as Abbey, is said to have been a star of the local sandlot football circles for several years. He plays half back on the Mohawk Team and is mentioned as its next coach. He also played for a time with the Mount St. Mary's Team, of Emmitsburg, Md.

Landon Preps Defeated By N. Y. Quintet, 16-10

Leading by two points with only 2 minutes left to play, Landon courtmen were unable to stop a determined rush of the Raymond Riordan School Five yesterday, and as a result bowed to the New Yorkers, 16-10, in the Epiphany Gym. The loss of Charley Hill, stellar guard, who was banned from the game when the fourth personal foul was called on him with that short time to play, deprived Landon of its chief defensive strength, and the Riordan Five had little trouble in sweeping down the floor for the necessary points.

With the score 12-10 against them, Eastman came through with a double-header that tied the score for the boys from Manhattan and Morrow then came through with the shot which put his club ahead. Another by Eastman salted the game away.

Drake's Five Extends Potomac Boat Club

Overcoming a 10-point lead amassed by the Drakes in the first eight minutes of play, Potomac Boat Club continued on its unbeaten way in the Community Center League last night winning, 26-to-20, at the Central High Gym. After the Boatman had forged into the van near the end of the first quarter, they were never headed, although leading only 19-to-18 at the end of the half.

Scoring during the second twenty minutes of play was at a minimum, the Drakes being held to two points while the Potomacs could gather but seven. Atkins and Proctor led their respective teams each counting four field goals and a foul toss.

ROUGH GOING IS AHEAD OF DUKE FIVE

Next 4 Games Listed With Members of "Big Five."

Special to The Washington Post.

DURHAM, N. C., Jan. 27.—Duke's next four games will be with members of the Big Five. In the next three weeks the Devils will meet Carolina, Wake Forest, State and Davidson, a clean sweep of Big Five members. The Carolina game will be played next Saturday.

The Devils will meet Wake Forest at Raleigh on February 4 and will follow up with State at Raleigh on February 8. The following Monday they will meet Davidson at Davidson, then to South Carolina on Tuesday.

After the South Carolina game the Devils will have one day of practice to prepare for the intersectional tilt with Loyola, of Chicago, undefeated for two years. The game will be played here on February 13.

Clean-up Will Mean Much to Blue Devils.

These Big Five games in succession will mean a lot to Duke if the Devils annex them all. It will mean that the Devils will be on top for the North Carolina race and at the same time be high in Southern Conference circles.

The Carolina game at Chapel Hill Saturday will formally bring to a conclusion the examination period at Duke and will allow the Duke court men to continue with their regular schedule. Only one game was played in any sport during the two weeks examination period.

Coach Cameron has been lenient in practicing during this two-week period, but there will be plenty of hard work beginning about Tuesday of this week, when the players are through with hard studying. A new system of offense will be used against Carolina.

Blind Pig Tourney On Mt. Rainier Drives

A blind pig bowling tournament will be staged at the Mount Rainier Recreation Alleys Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. The event is open to all comers with entries, costing $1, closing Friday night. Nearly 100 already have sent in their names.

Middletown Resident Dies of Long Illness

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Jan. 27.—Charles M. Shank, 67, one of the best known and most successful business men of Middletown, died yesterday after a long period of failing health. He was a son of the late George Shank, pioneer farmer of Middletown Valley. About two years ago he gave $50,000 for the erection of the Shank wing to the City Hospital and recently gave $18,000 to the new chapel of the Lutheran Church in Middletown. Besides his wife, formerly Miss Anna D. Keller, he is survived by two brothers, Carlton P. Shank, Myersville, and George A. Shank, Jacksonville, Fla. He was a Mason and Knight Templar and a member of the Boumi Temple Shrine, Baltimore. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Esleech to Aid Coach Of Boxers at V. P. I.

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., Jan. 27.—Carl A. "Dick" Esleech, former captain of the boxing team at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and coach of boxing here in 1928 and 1929, has been added to the coaching staff for the ring sport, C. P. Miles, director of athletics, announced today.

Esleech arrived in Blacksburg this evening and will commence work at once with Walter Pattie, varsity coach.

Esleech blazed a bright trail in Southern middleweights several years ago and now will assist Pattie in teaching the sort of ring generalship that twice swept this former pupil to the top of the Dixie heap. But an hour is allowed the boxing candidates for their workouts each afternoon and this made another instructor necessary for the twoscore candidates out for the teams.

G. W. FACES HANDICAP FRIDAY

Gray, Harris to Be Missing Against Randolph-Macon.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S FIVE is facing one of its hardest games of the season—that with Randolph-Macon Friday night—with prospects of losing temporarily two regular players on account of mid-year examinations.

Capt. Bob Gray and George Harris, guard and forward, respectively, are the pair of first-string performers who will be absent. Two other members of the squad, Loeffler and Hoffman, also will have to miss the game because of pressure of classroom work.

Coach Joe Mitchell, consequently, is not any too optimistic as the battle with the strong Ashland, Va., team nears. He is mindful of the gruelling struggle put up by Randolph-Macon against his club two weeks ago when, with the regulars intact, George Washington barely eked out a victory, 31 to 30.

King and Goodson Stars Of Visitors.

Randolph-Macon has two exceptionally fine players in King, forward, and Goodson, center. The former is a deadly shot from any distance or position between midcourt and the basket, while Goodson, who stands 6 feet 6 inches, is a veritable terror, defensively and offensively, under the basket.

Coach Mitchell ranks Randolph-Macon next to Villanova as the best team George Washington has encountered this season.

MANGIN, G. U., IN NATIONAL NET PLAY

Hilltop Star Rated Threat by Gotham Tennis Critics.

GREGORY MANGIN, Georgetown University's Eastern intercollegiate singles and doubles tennis champion, will compete in the national indoor tournament which opens Saturday at New York City.

Mangin, whose many fine accomplishments during 1929 probably will earn him a ranking among the first ten in the country, will seek the crown captured by Jean Borotra, of France, in this indoor classic last winter. In the 1929 event, Mangin advanced to the round before the semifinals before losing. He was defeated by Julius Seligson, of Lehigh, whom he later met and conquered in outdoor competition.

Metropolitan tennis critics regard Mangin as a real threat to take the honors in the forthcoming tournament. They were deeply impressed by his improvement last summer when he went to the finals or semifinals of almost all of the major tournaments. In the famous Southampton event, he paired with Berkeley Bell, of Texas, and defeated Bill Tilden and Francis Hunter.

Mangin's Backhand Famous.

Mangin is noted for his court covering ability and his backhand stroke. The latter is recognized as one of the best in the game in America.

Bob Considine, of George Washington University, and Dooly Mitchell, of Georgetown, also will compete in the New York affair. These two are well known in national public parks circles. Considine recently was ranked first with George Jennings, of Chicago, in national public parks doubles, and was given fourth place in the singles rankings.

Fredericksburg Girls Play Als Here Tonight

The Als A. C. Girls Team, which has compiled a record of seven victories in eight starts, will entertain the Fredericksburg State Teachers Sextet from Fredericksburg, Va., tonight in the Wilson Normal Gymnasium. The game will get under way at 8 o'clock.

PULLMAN FIVE WINS.

IT'S ALL RIGHT. I'M LOOKING FOR A COCKEYED SAILOR BY THE NAME OF CROUT. WE HAVE A LITTLE DEAL ON.
I HAD A TALK WITH YOU CROUT ABOUT ARRANGING TO REMEMBER SEEING CODA RECENTLY AT AN OBSCURE AUSTRALIAN SEAPORT. I THOUGHT WE MIGHT HAVE TO PROVE HIM STILL ALIVE. BUT THE SITUATION IS CHANGING.
IT'S OK. WITH ME. I CAN FORGET WHAT I WAS S'POSED TO REMEMBER JUST AS WELL AS REMEMBER WHAT NEVER HAPPENED.
YOU MAY HAVE TO REMEMBER PICKING UP SOME DRIFT WOOD WHILE FISHING OFF THE SCILLY ISLES PART OF AN AIRPLANE BEARING THE NUMBER OF THE SHIP CODA IS SUPPOSED TO HAVE GONE DOWN ON. YOU MAY HAVE TO FURNISH SOME SHIPMATES TOO.

The task of filling the COMMUNITY CHEST for 1930 Begins Today

10 days in which to establish your claim to the title "GOOD CITIZEN"

Once more YOUR FELLOW CITIZENS are coming to YOU with the one appeal to which you cannot say "No."

Your Banker, your Doctor, your Pastor, your Lawyer, high Executives of your Government; all are laying aside their personal interests for these ten days in order to ensure the success of Washington's GREATEST CIVIC ENTERPRISE.

They will come to you, not with prophecies and promises of things to be done, BUT WITH A RECITAL OF GREAT THINGS ALREADY ACCOMPLISHED.

You, yourself, have seen the results of PLACING THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE CITY'S WELFARE ORGANIZATIONS ON A SOUND BUSINESS BASIS.

Results accomplished by THE COMMUNITY CHEST in its first year are so obvious that no well-informed citizen of Washington can help seeing them.

NEVER BEFORE HAVE THE WELFARE ORGANIZATIONS OF THE CITY BEEN SO ADEQUATELY FINANCED OR ACCOMPLISHED SO MUCH.

So we are not trying, in this advertisement, to "sell" you THE COMMUNITY CHEST, for it has "sold" itself to every thinking Washingtonian.

We are simply giving you advance notice that the Chest Workers are coming to see you, and bespeaking in their behalf, the cordial reception and response which the cause they represent merits.

INDUSTRIALS CLIMB IN STOCK TURNOVER

Total of 3,500,000 Shares Traded; Republic Steel Merger Planned.

FOOD GROUPS ADVANCE

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—The stock market had the appearance of strength during the greater part of today's session, although the index of 90 leading stocks was unchanged from Saturday. Several of the high-priced industrials and specialties were whirled up 4 to 10 points, and net gains of 1 to 2 points were quite numerous, but these were interspersed with a rather long list of net declines, most of which were held to a point or two. The day's sales ran close to 3,500,000 shares.

The day's news provided little in the way of market influences. The annual report of Montgomery-Ward, showing earnings of only $2.60 a share, was somewhat worse than generally expected, and the stock promptly sold down 3¾ points, but it recovered all but a small fraction of its loss before the close. When the "bull" movement was at its height last summer, Montgomery-Ward earnings estimates ran above $6 a share; Sears-Roebuck declined in sympathy and then shot upward to close with a net gain of 4¾ points.

Wall street regarded the Montgomery-Ward report, and other 1929 earnings statements, as so much water over the dam, and appeared more interested in current statements and forecasts. The United States Steel quarterly report, due after the close tomorrow, is expected to show 1929 earnings in excess of $18 a share.

Fox Film Proves Erratic.

Fox Film went through another erratic performance, closing 1½ points higher at 31, after having sold down to 26½ in the early trading. Postponement of the receivership hearing until after the close of the market inspired heavy short covering on the possibility of an amicable settlement being reached by opposing stock interests. Other amusement shares displayed a strong undertone, Paramount Famous Lasky, Radio-Keith-Orpheum and Warner Bros. pictures all closing with good gains.

Details of the Republic Steel Corporation merger financing were announced after the close of the market. Central Alloy closing at 83¾, up ¼, and Republic at 78¾, up 1½, or about in line with the merger terms. Good buying developed in some of the other independent steels, particularly Inland and Vanadium, which closed with substantial gains. United States Steel common sold down 1½ points to 177½ after having set a new high for the year at 180¼.

Food shares showed a strong undertone with the demand centering in National Biscuit, Beechnut Packing and F. G. Shattuck. J. I. Case, up 10¼ points, led another advance in the farm implement shares. Efforts to bring about a rally in the copper shares met with rather strong resistance and the net gains in that group were small. In the motor group, Chrysler and Yellow Cab were turned over in large volume but the net gains were small, but Auburn added 4½ points to its recent gain. Parmelee Transportation advanced a point to a new 1930 high at 22.

Air reduction, United States Industrial Alcohol and Sloss Sheffield Steel each lost about 4 points.

Call Money at 4 Per Cent.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent and then dropped to 4, with the supply so plentiful that loans were available in the "outside market" at 3½ per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

With the exception of coffee, which advanced 17 to 23 points, most of the leading commodity markets lost ground. Chicago wheat futures were down about 1¼ cents a bushel, with larger declines in the Winnipeg market, on selling influences by reports of increased Russian offerings in foreign markets. Cotton sold off nearly $1 a bale as a result of the bearish interpretation placed by traders on the general farm outlook for 1930 by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Corn yielded a fraction of a cent a bushel on bearish crop estimates.

Foreign exchange trading was rather quiet, with the British and Dutch rates sagging to new low levels for the year. Sterling Cables were quoted around $4.86½ and Dutch guilders around 40.13 cents. Spanish pesetas broke nearly 20 points to 12.96 points.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Cotton was unsettled and lower today under liquidation and rather more general selling prompted by the relatively easy showing of Liverpool, the weakness in grain and a less favorable view of the grain and agricultural products. May contracts sold off from 17.42 to 17.30 and closed at that figure, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 16 to 19 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 1 point. There was some trade buying and covering, but the demand was readily supplied and the market soon turned easier. The buying continued, but it was mostly on scale down orders, and the market became weaker as prices worked lower, with some price orders uncovered during the decline. March sold as low as 17.06, July to 17.49 and October to 17.22 in the late trading, making net losses of 16 to 19 points. Closing quotations were about the lowest of the day. March liquidation continued and there was considerable switching from near to late positions, but without much change in the differences between months.

A bearish interpretation of the statement on the general farm outlook for 1930 by the Bureau of Agriculture Economics was said to be a factor on the decline. This was probably promoted by the weakness in the wheat market, and there may have been some Western selling on the street, as well as Wall street selling on the decline. There were also rumors that Bombay was selling some cotton here either direct or through Liverpool, probably as a hedge against spot holdings.

Cable advices reported a pessimistic tone in the cotton goods market at Manchester and said that unfavorable Indian news was checking business. These advices also said that American and continental buying in the Liverpool market have been supplied by Bombay liquidation. Trade interests were credited with buying a good part of the cotton sold in the futures market here during the day, and there was some buying on the late decline on a belief that the market's technical position was improving. Exports today were 13,653 bales, making 4,373,218 so far this season. Port receipts, 12,106. United States port stocks, 2,484,531.

CONVERTIBLES RISE IN BOND TURNOVER

Average of Prices, However, Shows Moderate Decline.

FOREIGN TRADING FIRM

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—The movement of bond prices was confused today. Closing quotations were about evenly divided between gains and losses, although the averages showed a decline for all groups.

Convertibles flashed a little of their mid-summer vigor, especially the American Telephone 4½s, which made a maximum rise of 4 points and closed 2½ higher on a turnover of about $1,200,000, principal amount, the largest in weeks. There were net advances of 1 to 2 points in American International 5½s, Atchison 4½s, New Haven 6s, Reading Coal & Iron 7s and Commercial Investment Trust 5½s. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s, which lose their conversion privilege on Saturday, rose 2½.

The foreign trading was on a firm basis, but the persistence of time money at 4½ to 4¾ per cent levels and the counter attraction of a stronger stock market were accompanied by marked irregularity in the later dealings. It was reported that the distribution of the current month's new bond financing was nearing completion.

High Grade Rails Rise.

Several high grade rails rose sharply on small transactions. Columbus & Hocking Valley first 4s gained 4½, Illinois Central first 3½s rose 2, Nickel Plate 4½s advanced 2½ and Lake Shore general 3½s rallied 1¼. In no instance, however, was a turnover of more than $5,000, principal amount, involved.

In more general trading, Burlington 4½s, Rock Island General 4s, Union Pacific 4½s, and Western Maryland 4s, improved about half a point each, while losses of similar proportions developed in Baltimore & Ohio 5s, Missouri-Kansas-Texas prior lien 5s, and Pennsylvania Gold 5s.

Utilities were mostly firm. Illinois Bell Telephone 5s, Kansas Gas & Electric 6s, New York Edison 6½s, Pacific Telephone first 5s, American Telephone 5s, of 1960, and Utah Power & Light 5s made fractional improvement, although closing prices were somewhat below the day's highs. Most of the net losses in this group were on thin dealings.

Demand Light in Industrials.

Industrials reflected a light demand and stood virtually still. In the specialties division, Shubert Theater 6s, rose 2 points and Schulte Co. 6½s, series B, 2½. North American Cement 6½s, moved up 1.

Substantial transactions during the morning in Liberty 4½s, suggested improved activity in the United States Governments, but buying orders appeared to have been satisfied by the early flurry, and the group quieted, selling off on the day.

Foreign obligations were irregular. There was further liquidation of the Australians, with the 5s, of 1957 selling off 2¼ points and the 5s, of 1955 dipping below their 1929 minimum. European loans were steady, but inactive.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET TRANSACTIONS

Curb Review

New York, Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Bullish price tendencies in today's curb market were more pronounced, but there were still sufficient soft spots to give it the appearance of irregularity. Chief speculative interest centered in the spectacular gain of 55 points in Deere & Co., to 620, which contrasts with a low of 310 and a high of 642 last year, on the publication of the 1929 report showing earnings of $68.60 a share, as against $37.50 in the previous year.

Commonwealth Edison ran up 28 points, to 266, and closed within 3 points of the top, but gains in most of the other leading power and light stocks, including American Superpower, American Gas & Electric, Associated Gas and Niagara & Hudson, were held to a point or less. Recent accumulation of the public utilities has been based on the theory that they are likely to be least affected by a business depression, as evidenced by the steadily mounting gross and net earnings over the past few months.

A brisk demand was again apparent for some of the natural gas stocks, particularly Dixie and United Gas.

Gulf Oil of Pennsylvania advanced nearly 2 points and most of the others improved fractionally in quiet trading. Blaw Knox dropped 1¼ points, to 33½, despite the inauguration of dividends at the annual rate of $1.50. Lehman Corporation, with a gain of nearly 2 points, featured the investment trust and trading corporation group. Baltimore & Ohio "rights" held steady around 1½ and 1¼, but the convertible bonds yielded slightly. Fox Theaters closed fractionally higher at 68 a share, despite the institution of receivership proceedings against that company.

BUDGET OF SCHOOLS UP FOR DISCUSSION

Prince Georges County Will Talk Needs of System at Conference.

FREE BUSES ARE URGED

The budget for the school needs of Prince Georges County will be discussed at a joint meeting of the county board of education and the county commissioners at Upper Marlboro today.

Nicholas Orem, county superintendent of schools, and his assistants have prepared a tentative budget for the board of education, and this will be presented to the county commissioners today. It provides for the needs of the system for the school year of 1930-1931.

One of the subjects which will be discussed at the conference is that of transportation. Numerous requests for free transportation of high school pupils have been received by the board of education. In the past, the board has paid half of the cost of such transportation in some cases and in others the pupils have had to pay their own fares.

Proponents of the free plan say that the time has arrived when children of the rural districts should be given equal educational opportunities with their town brethren. High schools are built in thickly populated centers, they point out, and the farm child who wishes to obtain a high school education must travel many miles in most cases. To force the additional hazard upon him of having to pay for his transportation is manifestly unfair, it is claimed. The movement for free transportation has gained considerable ground in the past few years.

Bertram G. Bruestle, representing the State game division of Maryland and the National Association of Audubon Societies, has completed a tour of the county schools and now is transferring his activities to Charles County. Mr. Bruestle has been lecturing to the school children on "Bird Life," and urging them to build bird houses and form junior Audubon societies.

A meeting of Hyattsville Volunteer Firemen will be held tonight in the firehouse for the purpose of organizing a brass band.

Keyser, W. Va., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Miss Luella Whetsel, Harrisonburg, Va., nurse, will go on trial here tomorrow on a charge of complicity with Dr. Otto Fisher, serving ten years in prison for his part in the alleged crime in the death of Lonnie Muriel Beckone, Harrisonburg, as the result of an illegal operation.

Trial of Orville Liskey, also of Harrisonburg, also accused in the death of Miss Beckone, his fiancee, again was postponed until the April term of court and his bail reduced from $6,500 to $5,000 by Judge A. Jay Valentine.

Defense counsel today sought an immediate trial for Orville Liskey, but it was denied by the court when the State contended it was not ready, having concentrated its efforts on the case against Miss Whetsel.

The report of the treasurer shows that the company during the past year has been able to meet all expenditures from receipts.

As a means of encouraging the use of street cars the directors have voted to reduce the fare of 50 cents one way to Fairfax, to 60 cents for round trips, and from Falls Church, instead of 25 cents one way, to 35 cents for round trips on Tuesdays and Fridays to Washington. This change will become effective Tuesday, February 4.

With plans prepared for erection of the new Clarendon Methodist Church, to cost approximately $70,000, not including the pipe organ, which will cost $15,000, the building committee, of which Harry Shephard is chairman, has completed its organization to raise funds.

The program calls for raising $10,000 this year, which will permit the erection of the building and all interest charges.

It is hoped to begin operations with the opening of spring.

The building will be located on the church site purchased several years ago and connect with the Sunday school building facing on Taylor avenue. The church building will occupy the corner lot at Taylor and Clarendon avenues.

The Sunday school building was erected at a cost of $40,000.

Plans for a community chest in Arlington County are under way.

The sponsors of the movement, whose names are being withheld until the organization is completed, point out that the need of a community chest is most pronounced in Arlington County.

It is hoped that a meeting to complete the organization will be called within the next few days.

The ladies auxiliary of the Clarendon Fire Department announced that there will be a benefit card party held tomorrow night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jaeschke, Strickler avenue, Clarendon.

The executive committee of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, meeting yesterday afternoon in the board of directors rooms, discussed plans of activity for the year and also the personnel of the standing committees.

There will be no meeting of the board on Friday night.

Mrs. H. L. Lee will be the delegate from the Thomas Nelson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, to the annual meeting of the Woman's National Defense Council, which meets in Washington tomorrow night.

Plans are rapidly progressing for the tenth annual minstrel show to be given on the nights of March 13, 14 and 15, under the auspices of the Cherrydale Volunteer Fire Department.

This is one of the few means that the department has of raising funds to maintain and operate the department and the committee announces that the show this year will surpass any in recent years.

With but four days remaining in which to secure State revenue licenses, County Commissioner of Revenue Harry K. Green calls attention to all merchants that, unless license are secured before Saturday, February 1, a penalty of 10 per cent of the tax will be added, or a minimum of $2 charged as a penalty.

Pan-American Car Trip Commenced

Two College Students and Professor Are Headed for Buenos Aires.

Equipped with rubber pontoons and paddle-wheel rims on its rear wheels, the William and Mary Pan-American automobile being sent out to establish a highway route to South America will leave Williamsburg, Va., today for Washington on the first lap of its 12,000-mile trip to Buenos Aires.

Headed by Dr. E. C. Branchi, professor of romance languages at William and Mary College, who will be accompanied by two students, Neil Arnett and T. O. Williams, the expedition expects to traverse at least 500 miles of virgin lands without roads or paths, and many occasions are anticipated where it will be necessary to cross streams and rivers where there are no fords or bridges.

From Washington the car will go to New Orleans, then through Mexico, Central America and South America to Brazil and Buenos Aires. Prof. Branchi hopes to complete the trip within three months, stopping occasionally to deliver lectures, as a means of promoting closer relations between the two Americas. An autograph book will be part of the expedition's equipment, and with the signature of President Hoover as its initial entry, the travelers hope to add the signatures of presidents and other high officials in each country visited.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA is studying salesmanship.

"What's up now?" I asked, noting the determination with which she approached the subject.

"I've written a book——"

"And is that what you're going to sell, the book? You're going to be a book agent, eh?"

"No," she confessed, "the publisher wouldn't take the book——"

"Oh!" You're studying salesmanship so you can sell the manuscript to some other publisher. Is that it?"

"Nothing of the kind. I'm studying salesmanship so I can sell something, anything, to raise enough money to have the book published."

* * * *

HOW ingenious is Luella. Naturally, I was interested in her book. This way, I'll not only have to buy a copy of the book but must also purchase some merchandise to enable publication.

"What is the book about?" I asked.

"It's about panthers——"

"Panthers?"

"What do you think I'd write about, canary birds?"

"Well, canary birds are interesting—and they give you a chance to work in the Canary Islands, as a background, a sort of travelogue."

"The panthers give me the jungle," she flashed.

"They give me the willies," I admitted.

* * * *

ANYWAY, the book is written, so that's that. All that remains now is for Luella to start her sales campaign.

"What are you going to sell?" I asked, anxious-like.

She paused, pondered.

"That's what's worrying me. First I thought of oil burners——"

"Not a bad idea. You could sell the oil, too."

"Independent oil salesmen haven't a chance. The big companies——"

"That's the trouble with this country. Too much Big Business. The little fellow is out o' luck."

Luella started looking through the want ads.

"What are you doing that for?"

"To find out what people want," she said, "so I can sell it to 'em!"

The girl has ideas.

VIRGINIA LIVE STOCK PRICES ON INCREASE

Four Per Cent Gain Recorded Against Three Per Cent Drop Through U. S.

COWS MORE NUMEROUS

Richmond, Va., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Virginia live stock values increased by 4 per cent during 1929, as compared with a decrease of approximately 3 per cent for the whole United States during the same period, according to the annual report of the Virginia and United States Departments of Agriculture made public here tonight by Henry M. Taylor, agricultural statistician.

On January 1, 1930, the estimated value of live stock on Virginia farms, not including poultry, was $81,116,000, compared with $73,228,000 in 1929 and $70,609,000 in 1928. The value of horses, mules and cattle increased, while the value of sheep and swine decreased.

The number of horses continued to decline and the estimated number on January 1 of 192,000 is the smallest since 1876, the report said.

Price Shows Increase.

Prices for horses have been advancing slowly during the last two years, the report continued, and the average value per head was reported as $83 on January 1, as compared with $78 last year and $70 two years ago. Improvement in prices had resulted in greater interest in breeding, but the number of colts was still not sufficient to take the place of old horses dying. Throughout the United States horses also continued to decline.

Mules increased slightly in Virginia during the last year and the number on farms January 1 was estimated to be 107,000, compared with 105,000 a year earlier. Prices improved slightly during the year and the average value per head was reported at $100, compared with $97 last year. The number of mules throughout the United States continued the decrease which began four years ago, and the number on farms on January 1 was 5,322,000.

The number of all cattle in Virginia increased during 1929 and the estimated number on January 1 of 789,000 was 4 per cent greater than a year ago. The average price for all cattle was reported at $56 a head. Milk cows increased approximately 6 per cent during 1929 and the estimated number on farms January 1 was 396,000.

Cattle Increase Is General.

Cattle increased about 3 per cent throughout the United States and the estimated number on farms of 57,967,000 was greater than for any year since 1926, but was below any during the previous thirteen years.

Sheep have been gradually increasing in Virginia since 1922, but the rate of increase during 1929 was less than in recent years. The estimated number on farms was 470,000, which was an increase of 4 per cent over the preceding year. The average value per head was reported as $11, compared with $11.80 last year. Throughout the United States sheep increased again during 1929.

The number of hogs on Virginia farms declined approximately 10 per cent during the last year and the total number on January 1 was estimated to be 503,000, the smallest number reported on Virginia farms for at least twenty years.

TRIAL IS UNDER WAY IN SLAYING OF THREE

Defense May Call Alienists to Defend Romney Man on Murder Charge.

VENUE CHANGE SOUGHT

Special to The Washington Post.

Romney, W. Va., Jan. 27.—Preliminary moves by Walter Crabtree, charged with the murder of three Romney men here early on the morning of December 18, were put out of the way at the beginning of his trial here today when Judge A. G. Hughes, of Braxton County, sitting in place of Judge G. K. Kump, who is a potential material witness for the State, permitted Crabtree to withdraw his original plea of not guilty, and denied a postponement plea of counsel.

At adjournment time this afternoon the question of a change of venue, asked by the defense, was still hanging. Crabtree had not entered another plea late today but it was anticipated it will be insanity. It is known several alienists have been summoned by the defense.

New defense counsel, employed by the family and friends of Crabtree, appeared today and sprang the moves, which came as a surprise. The new counsel are Attorneys P. G. Shores, of Keyser, and J. P. Romine, of Cumberland, Md. The two local attorneys, John Lehman and Ira V. Cowgill, named by the court to defend Crabtree when the latter appeared January 9 for arraignment without counsel, withdrew today with the appearance of the new men.

The change of venue plea was based on the ground that Crabtree could not obtain a fair trial in this county, where the crimes were committed. The plea for postponement was based on the claim that counsel, having come into the case only last Wednesday, had not had sufficient time to prepare a defense.

The State's case is in charge of Prosecutor L. V. Thompson, assisted by former Prosecuting Attorney Robert White, J. S. Zimmerman, both of Romney, and E. L. Luttrell, of Martinsburg, W. Va.

A plea this morning for quashing on a technicality the indictment of which the case is being heard, that for the slaying of Justice of the Peace H. Carter Inskeep, was denied. The other two killings for which Crabtree also stands indicted are those of Jailer Ben J. Miller and Edward Wolford.

The courthouse here was packed half an hour before the opening of the trial. Crabtree was brought from the Keyser (W. Va.) Jail, where he has been held for safekeeping by State police.

Alienists Guthrie and Denham, of State hospitals for insane, examined Crabtree yesterday in the Keyser Jail, it was learned, but their report has not been made public.

No demonstration against the defendant was even hinted at during the proceedings. Eleven State troopers are here for the trial, and Crabtree is being kept in the jail here tonight.

Pastor Sentenced On Forgery Count

Richmond Man Admits His Guilt and Receives Ten-Year Term.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—H. D. Mollart, former pastor of Asbury Methodist Church here, arrested several months ago and charged with forgery on notes to the amount of $7,566.66, pleaded guilty at his trial today in hustings court and was sentenced to ten years in the State penitentiary by Judge Ernest H. Wells.

Mollart was taken to the Eastern State Hospital for observation as to his mental condition shortly after the investigation was made. He was later brought back to Richmond under charge of forgery of one note. Afterward seventeen other charges of forgery were brought against the former pastor.

He was arraigned first in November of last year, but his attorney had examination waived and the case was sent on to the hustings court. The persons whose names Mollart was charged with having forged are prominent citizens of South Richmond. The alleged forged notes reached six banking institutions of Richmond.

Veterans Hospital Aid Is Killed in Auto Crash

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 27 (A.P.).—Dr. Paul Emerson Reynolds, 34, member of the staff of the Veterans' Hospital at Perry Point, Md., was killed yesterday as his automobile crashed into an abutment beside the Baltimore-Philadelphia road near Havre de Grace. Authorities investigating the accident expressed the belief today that Dr. Reynolds had fallen asleep at the wheel while returning to the hospital from Baltimore.

The physician, who had been stationed at the Perry Point institution for six years, was a native of Baltimore and a graduate of the University of Maryland Medical School. He had been stationed at the Rocky Mount, N. C., Hospital and was named for the Perry Point staff after taking a special course in mental diseases at St. Elizabeths Hospital, Washington.

CROSSING TRAGEDY IS LAID TO AUTOIST

John Butts, of Alexandria, Was Driving Recklessly, Coroner Finds.

14 WITNESSES ON STAND

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 323.

At the conclusion of an inquest in which testimony of fourteen witnesses was heard, City Coroner T. Marshall Jones yesterday reached the verdict that John F. Butts, who was killed when his automobile was in collision with a trolley car of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway Co., came to his death as the result of reckless driving.

Mr. Butts, according to several witnesses, was driving west on Alexandria avenue, at a speed estimated at between 40 and 50 miles an hour, and made no effort to stop his machine when he reached the railroad tracks. The electric car was northbound, and Mr. Butts had an unobstructed view of the track in the direction in which the car was approaching, it was testified. The motorman, Fred Johnson, declared his car was going about 20 or 25 miles an hour, having just made a stop at Glendale; that he saw the machine of Mr. Butts, traveling at high speed; that Mr. Butts apparently looked neither to the right nor the left; that he, Mr. Johnson, applied his emergency brake, sounded his whistle, and reversed the power on his car, but was unable to stop. Mr. Butts' automobile was dragged approximately 150 feet, and Mr. Butts sustained a fractured skull which caused his death.

The dead man was 23 years old and unmarried. He resided with his father, T. Frank Butts, on Duke street extended, and was returning from a visit to his grandmother, Mrs. Lewis Peverill, in Slater's lane. Besides his parents, Mr. Butts is survived by three sisters and one brother—Mrs. Ruth Eagle, of Toms River, N. J.; Miss Marjorie and Miss Frances Butts, of this city, and Calvin Butts, also of Alexandria. He was employed at the plant of the Alexandria Iron Works, his father being secretary-treasurer of the company, and his grandfather the president.

The George Washington Birthday Association will have several speakers visit the moving picture houses in this city and deliver short talks on the subject of the parade to be held here on Washington's birthday, which will be reviewed by President Hoover and Gov. John Garland Pollard. Those scheduled to deliver the talks are J. Randall Caton, jr., Frederick L. Flynn and Irvin Diener. They will tell briefly of the work of the association and will solicit members. Each member will be given a button colored in buff and blue, Washington's colors, and inscribed with the words, "The George Washington Birthday Association, 1930."

An epidemic of whooping cough is reported in the city, with an increasing number of cases each day, many of the victims being school children. Dr. W. Lewis Schafer, city health officer, states that thus far only six cases have been reported to the health department, although physicians are supposed to report all such cases.

The issue of $750,000 4½ per cent annexation and public improvement bonds of Alexandria, which were sold to Lewis E. Smoot, of Washington, for $735,000 and interest from January 1, will be formally turned over to Mr. Smoot at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Shortly thereafter a check for $500,000 will be presented to Arlington County, as provided for in the annexation decree handed down in the recent suit.

Dr. Francis S. Short, lecturer, will address a community mass meeting in the auditorium of the Elks Home at 8 o'clock tonight, his subject being "Community Welfare." This meeting is being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, the Rotary Club, the American Legion and the Chamber of Commerce. F. C. Goodnow, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will introduce the speaker. Residents in the newly annexed territory have been especially invited to attend.

The Rotary Club will hold its regular monthly business meeting in the George Mason Hotel today, with Dr. S. Nelson Gray presiding. A final report on the "Ladies' Night" celebration will be made by George F. Downham, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Three Women Escape Death by Asphyxiation

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 27.—Mrs. S. J. Sears, her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Kelly, and the latter's daughter, Miss Odessa Kelly, had narrow escapes from death by asphyxiation yesterday in their home. The trouble was due to gas escaping from a cooking stove.

Mrs. Kelly was overcome and fell to the floor. Her mother and daughter, hearing her fall, went to her aid, thinking she had fainted. In a few moments Mrs. Sears was overcome and then Miss Kelly. A little later Miss Kelly revived sufficiently to open a widow and call for help. The three women were almost entirely recovered from effects of the gas today.
